SHIPPING COMBINE ON LAKES MOOTED

Sir Henry Pellatt Neither Denies or Confirms When He is Questioned

AN OFFICIAL SAYS NOT IMPROBABLE

Richelleu and Ontario May Control St. Lawrence Inter-lake and Merchants Lines

WOULD GIVE COMPANY ABSOLUTE CONTROL

Toronto, Ont., March 28.—"I am not in a position to deny or confirm any of the reports," declared Sir Henry M. Pellatt this morning, when asked whether or not the Richelleu & Ontario Navigation Company, of which he is a director, was negotiating for the control of the St. Lawrence & Chicago Navigation Company, the Merchants' Mutual Line and the Canadian Inter-lake line. An official of the Inter-lake line stated that ever since the R. & O. absorption of the Niagara Navigation Company and the Hamilton Steamboat Company such reports have been going around, and that while a merger as that now proposed was not improbable, he did not think any final negotiations were at the moment under way.

Navigation men say that if this deal is carried through it would give the R. & O., operated in conjunction with their other holdings, almost absolute control of the Canadian fleet on the Great Lakes.

FLOOD ZONE TRAINS ON IMPROVED TIME

Regular Services Resumed Today to Parts of Ohio and Indiana

Chicago, March 28.—There was a marked improvement to-day in train service within the flood zone of Indiana and Ohio.

The Fort Wayne division of the Pennsylvania railroad resumed a full schedule between Chicago and New York, except the twenty-hour train, which has been suspended indefinitely. Through trains are being routed from Chicago to Mansfield, from Mansfield to Akron, over the Lake Shore and from Akron to Alliance, thence to Pittsburgh. The Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania is operating local trains from Chicago to Royal Centre, Ind. Regular train service between Chicago and New York was continued without interruption to-day by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Grand Trunk and Nickel Plate roads.

The Baltimore & Ohio ran local trains as far east as Chicago Junction, Ohio.

The Erie sent trains to Huntington, Ind. Monon trains are unable to get further than Monon, Ind., in the flooded districts.

The Big Four resumed its regular train service between Chicago and Indianapolis. The Chesapeake & Ohio made no effort to send out trains, and it was announced that probably it would be several days before train service on these lines again began.

TWO HUNDRED FIRES IN YEAR, SAYS DODDS

Winnipeg, March 28.—James Dodds, held by the police as a fire bug, is stated to have made a confession this morning that in the course of the past year he has started over two hundred fires in Winnipeg and St. Boniface, small and large, the resulting loss being set at over one million dollars. Dodds told the police he started the fire in the premises of Radford Wright Company, where seven lives were lost.

GERMAN MILLIONAIRE INTERESTED IN COAL

Ottawa, March 28.—Dr. R. Hopper, the German millionaire and president of what is confidently predicted will be the greatest coal mine in the world, and of a new western railway, is here to see the government in connection with both of these matters. The coal mine lies 200 miles northwest of Edmonton, in Alberta, and consists of 71 claims, or 251,000 acres. It is predicted that the output of this mine will supply the whole Dominion.

FLOOD AND FIRE LOSS AT DAYTON ARE NOT SO ENORMOUS AS EARLY ESTIMATES

Waters Receding From Inundated Parts of City; Damage by Fire Million Five Hundred Thousand; Property Loss by Floods Between One and Twenty Millions

Dayton, Ohio, March 28.—With the water from the flooded parts of the city having somewhat receded it has been possible for a more accurate estimate of the loss of life and property from flood and fire to be made, and to-day the population here was relieved when it was made known that the death toll was not as heavy as has been announced during the past three days. Figures given out then were made mainly on conjecture, because the locations where the devastation occurred were cut off from the other parts of the city, and it was therefore impossible for the estimate to be made with any degree of accuracy.

Although there has been considerable loss of life the figures when they are finally known will not reach the enormous total given out as a possible loss. The estimate that ten thousand persons had lost their lives in the flood and fire in the city of Dayton was an exaggeration, and it is not believed that the death toll will reach more than one thousand persons.

There has been a heavy loss by fire, which also was exaggerated, unintentionally no doubt by those who witnessed the explosions which occurred in the section that became a prey to the flames. Several blocks have been burned and the estimate now made conservatively is that by fire the damage to the city will be covered by one million five hundred thousand dollars. There has, however, been much heavier damage to property caused by the flood, and while an estimate of any accuracy cannot be made, it is said to-day that the loss from this cause will be over one million dollars and may run as high as twenty millions.

During the last twelve hours the water has been rapidly receding from the business district, and also from a large portion of the residence section of the city. This morning the water was becoming lower every hour, and an investigation of the inundated section will soon be possible. Then the real extent of the deaths and damage will become known and reliable estimates will be possible.

MILITIA CONTROLS THE DAMAGED CITY

Many Buildings Withstood the Flood and Gave Shelter to Seven Thousand

ATTEMPT TO STEAL $50,000 IN DIAMONDS

Dayton, Ohio, March 28.—Dayton is under the rigid rule of the militia, one thousand of its members having arrived to-day to restore the lawless element that it was thought might pervade when things began to right themselves again. Looters are being effectively suppressed and the example meted out to this class of individual in the early stages of the flood has had considerable effect, and looting cases are now few.

The militia is also working to keep the large numbers of curious sight-seers from interfering with the work of rescue and is putting a stop to disorder of all kinds. It is believed that with the dropping of the water that the work of bringing the city again to an almost normal state will occupy but a short time. The final rehabilitation of Dayton's damaged area will be the work of months, but business will be resumed by many houses in the affected area before many days go by.

The freedom from famine and sickness has done much to restore the people to confidence, and it is believed that there will be no outbreak of disease as there is now every means of medical relief for the injured and suffering. Help is being received from all sides and the worst days of the city's danger are past.

During the business sections to-day officials found the high stage of the flood was nine feet at the corner of Third and Main streets, which is in the very heart of the city. The onrushing water flooded the first floor of every store in the business district.

This caused the chief financial loss. The Tower of Steel high school was in them from Tuesday until Thursday; the Conover building, Kuhn's building, the Arcade, two Cappel buildings, Callahan Bank building, Schwind building, Commercial building, Mendenhall building, Rice-Kuhn Loeb building, United Brethren Publishing Company's building.

None of the public buildings were destroyed. Among the latter were the Dayton Club, Victoria, National and Colonial theatres; city hall, court-house, Beckel, Phillips, Algonquin and Atlas hotels; Masonic temple, post office, Y. M. C. A., and all churches.

The fire loss is positively limited to the destruction of the Dayton Gas, Light & Coke Company's plant, the row of two and three-story buildings on both sides of Third street from Jefferson street to St. Clair avenue, the Troy-Pearl Laundry plant and two apartment houses on the west side. A daring robbery was thwarted to-day when police arrested a man who was escaping from the city with a satchel containing $50,000 in diamond jewellery.

Stores which he had stolen from jewellery stores.

The Long Cabin, 115 years old, the first house built in Dayton, withstood the flood, although it is situated on the south bank of the Miami, right in the path of the torrential waters.

FOOD SUPPLY GOOD FREE FROM EPIDEMIC

Catholic Sisters and Eighteen Others Had No Provisions Since Tuesday

MONEY IS WITHOUT VALUE AT DAYTON

Dayton, Ohio, March 28.—The recession of the flood waters during the night has made possible the work of taking from the inundated section the residents who have been marooned there during the flood. This work is being carried on rapidly to-day, and while there is much suffering and many pitiable sights, there has so far been no epidemic of sickness, and it is confidently believed that this feared aspect of the calamity will be avoided.

Fortunately there is no present shortage of food, and there will be none, for with means of communication restored food supplies can be brought into the city with freedom from delay. Supplies are coming in rapidly. Another help towards straightening out the situation is the restoration of the telephone and the telegraph systems throughout the city and district.

Much of the suffering is occasioned from the severe cold to which the inhabitants of the marooned buildings have been subjected, and while at the moment there is a decided shortage in the fuel supply, this is being remedied rapidly by the shipment from district points of large quantities.

The trucks sent from the National Cash Register Company, manned by men with military orders to confiscate potatoes and food from the farmers, brought back a good supply of vegetables, and several trains reached the city with supplies. The rescue work also had taken on a semblance of a supply and all the streets from which the flood had receded were patrolled by militia. People were urged to get back to their homes, whenever possible.

"Beware of thieves and burglars," said an official bulletin given wide circulation. "Don't leave your houses without protection. It was thieves who scared you about the reservoir and natural gas explosions. The natural gas has been turned off, and there is no danger of explosions."

Sixty Catholic sisters at the Academy of the Sisters of Notre Dame, and eighteen persons for whom they had provided refuge, were found by the Louisville life-saving crew to-day to have been entirely without food or water since Tuesday. There were several cases of illness. The life-savers left a supply of bread and water, and planned to take further help.

Louisville men conveyed relief to several families in the low district, in the vicinity of Ludlow and Franklin streets. Here the flood had reached the roof of all two-story buildings. Only a few of the most desperate cases were brought out, the first move being to leave bread and water in as many places as possible.

The Fourth National Bank building, which was reported several times to have been destroyed by fire was untouched by the flames, although a building adjoining was burned.

The newspaper offices, the News and Herald and Journal buildings, are safe, but are not issuing papers. Money is of no use in Dayton at present. Every facility is free to every one without cost. Refugees not living in Dayton are leaving the city by the hundreds on foot.

BANK ACCOUNTANT DROPS FROM SIGHT

John McLennan Leaves His Friends in Street at Vancouver and Disappears

BOOKS ARE FOUND TO BE IN PERFECT ORDER

Vancouver, March 28.—John McLennan, accountant at the East End branch of the Moisons Bank on Hastings street, has been missing for almost a week. Last Saturday night he was out with friends, and when standing at the corner of Carrall and Hastings streets, he reported the disappearance of McLennan to the police, and since then an unceasing search has been made for him.

Monday was a bank holiday, and his absence did not cause any anxiety or speculation until he failed to appear for work on Tuesday morning. In order to get at the cash in the bank on Tuesday afternoon the safe had to be drilled. The bank officials immediately reported the disappearance of McLennan to the police, and since then an unceasing search has been made for him.

Bank inspectors and auditors have examined the young man's books since he went away, and Manager Jarvis stated this morning they were found to be in perfect order. It is also understood that McLennan had a small cash balance in his own account in the bank, and this is still lying to his credit. Those who worked with him at the bank state that he was usually a man of quiet tastes and habits, and they can assign no reason for his disappearance.

On the theory that there might be a possibility that the young man had met with foul play, the police department for the last few days, has been making inquiries far and wide, but so far their investigations have resulted in absolutely no information concerning the missing accountant, who is about 30 years of age.

He had been in the bank's service for about thirteen years, and came here eight months ago from Winnipeg. His home is in Cornwall, Ont., where his father, D. B. McLennan, is a prominent barrister. He is described as a man of fair complexion, five feet nine or ten inches in height, weighing 135 pounds, and of good health.

ATLIN INDIANS STAKE THREE HUNDRED CLAIMS IN THE TESLIN LAKE COUNTRY

Vancouver, March 28.—The first official information respecting the reported gold strike on Silver and adjacent creeks in the Teslin Lake country, reached here to-day. It consisted of a communication from W. Scott Simpson, Indian agent in the Stikine River district, addressed to A. M. Tyson, inspector of Indian agencies for Northern British Columbia. Mr. Tyson's office is in this city.

In his letter dated Telegraph Creek, March 2, Mr. Simpson says that there are at present but few of the older men on the reserve at the Tahltan village, the majority of the younger members being now in the vicinity of Silver creek, a tributary of Teslin river, which enters the river about 35 miles south of Teslin lake, where new placer diggings have been discovered by the Atlin Indians. He reports that on February 5 a deputation waited on him and produced a letter which had been sent to them by the Atlin Indians, stating that they had found new placer diggings in the locality referred to. These Indians asked him to accompany them on a claim-staking expedition and to see that their record papers and lay-over permits were properly made out. He decided to accompany them for the reason, he says, that it might ultimately lead to the prosperity of the band. The party left on February 7 and returned home on March 2, the day the letter was written, after staking on all three creeks.

The Atlin Indians, he adds, produced one and one-half ounces of rough gold which they had mined there late last fall. He further states that members of that tribe had obtained licenses and staked on the best looking portions of those creeks last November. The various Indian tribes have now located about 300 claims, about the same number as that located by white men.

Mr. Simpson expresses the opinion that it is difficult to say under existing conditions of snow and frozen ground whether these diggings will prove paying propositions. Most of the Indians are now sleighing out to the claims and will begin prospecting and whipsawing lumber early in the spring. He expects that most of the claims will be hard to work. He says the bulk of the supplies will require to be shipped in via White Horse, the Hoota-lingqua river and up Teslin lake by steamer, in the event of the ground proving rich. Mr. Dawson, who keeps a store at Teslin, is his authority for the statement that freight can be delivered to the head of Teslin lake (thirty-five miles from the diggings) at six cents per pound from Vancouver and Victoria. The other route is via Wrangell, Alaska, the Stikine river and Telegraph creek.

FLOYD ALLEN AND SON PAY EXTREME PENALTY

Richmond, Va., March 28.—Floyd Allen, leader of the Carroll county outlaws, who shot Judge Thornton Massey while he sat on the bench of the Hillsville courthouse, and his son Claude, were electrocuted here to-day in the electric chair.

The elder Allen, who had hoped for a reprieve up to the last moment, was badly shaken by a delay of six hours in carrying out the sentence.

CANDIDATES UP FOR ALBERTA ELECTIONS

Several Nominating Conventions Held and Fully Hundred Planned

CONTEST IN CALGARY FOR THE THREE SEATS

Rocky Mountain and Lethbridge City Ridings Offering Labor Candidates

HON. A. G. MACKAY HAS EDMONTON NOMINATION

Calgary, Alta., March 28.—The announcement that the Sifton government will go to the country on April 17 has stirred the political organizations of the various ridings into activity, and within the next week no less than 100 conventions will be held in various sections of the province.

Prospective Liberal candidates for the three seats in Calgary City include George Ross, W. M. Davidson, of the Alberta; Alexander Ross, who may be a Liberal-Labor candidate; W. M. Adshead and O. G. Devonish.

The possibilities among the Conservatives include: Dr. T. H. How, William Georgeson, George Thompson, of the News-Telegram; E. H. Riley, and the sitting member, T. M. Tweedie.

It is currently believed that the retirement of Edward McHenry, member for Red Deer, is probable on account of ill-health, and in that event Dr. How is likely to assume the Conservative leadership should he win the seat.

At the convention of the Liberals in Rocky Mountain riding, held in Coleman yesterday, it was decided not to place a Liberal candidate in the field, but endorse the candidature of William E. Powell, who is running as a candidate. There will probably be a three-cornered fight in this riding between Charles M. O'Brien, Socialist, the sitting member; Mr. Powell and a Conservative.

Edmonton, Alta., March 28.—Hon. C. W. Cross, attorney-general; Hon. A. G. Mackay, late leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, were unanimously nominated by the Edmonton Liberals last night to contest this city in the general election on April 17.

Other nominations are: V. C. Lyster, Liberal, and J. R. Lowery, Conservative, for Lloydminster, and J. G. Turgeon, of Hardisty, Liberal for Ribstone. The latter is a brother of Hon. F. W. A. Turgeon, attorney-general of Saskatchewan.

Stettin, Alta., March 28.—A Liberal convention was held in the town hall here yesterday, delegates being present from all parts of the riding. Some opposition was manifested to the nomination by acclamation of Robert L. Shaw, the present Liberal member, and the name of John Lane, Liberal, of Castor, was also put in nomination. The vote resulted as follows: Shaw, 82; Lane, 18.

Lethbridge, Alta., March 28.—The Labor convention held here yesterday for Lethbridge City riding nominated John O. Jones, of Frank, vice-president of district 18, U. M. W. A. The Liberal convention held last night did not nominate a candidate, but endorsed this choice. Lethbridge City Conservatives nominated Dr. J. S. Stewart, the sitting member. No other names were proposed.

Coutts, Alta., March 28.—The Warner Liberal convention proved a surprise. Although F. L. Leffingwell was expected to be the choice, the vote was in favor of Dr. Patton, of Coutts, 12 votes to 11.

Pincher Creek, Alta., March 28.—A big Liberal rally will take place here next Tuesday, when Premier Sifton opens the provincial campaign.

United States, British and Canadian Committees Meet at New York in May

Ottawa, March 28.—Arrangements have been made whereby an unofficial international conference will be held from May 5 to May 9, in New York, for the purpose of discussing the best method of conducting the celebration of the centenary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent in the winter of 1914-15. The conference will take place between delegations from the British committee, the American committee and the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, the American delegation numbering 12, the British, 7, and the Canadian committee of the association held last February, numbering 4.

The three committees will hold their first meeting on Monday, May 5, and the discussion of business probably will occupy three days. The Canadian committee consists of the president of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, Sir Edmund Walker, C. V. O., president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto; Sir Alex. Lacoste, former chief justice of the province of Quebec, Montreal; Travers Lewis, K. C., of Ottawa; C. F. Hamilton, honorary secretary, Ottawa.

The British committee will include Lord Shaw, of Dunfermline, one of the lords of the judicial committee of the privy council; W. M. G. Gladstone, M. P., grandson of W. E. Gladstone, and formerly attaché at Washington; Sir William Mather, P. C., M. I. C. E., an active promoter of technical education, and H. S. Ferris, secretary of the British committee.

JAPAN TREATY BILL HAS FIRST READING

Motion of Censure Brought on the Landry Appointment Voted Down

BOUNDARY FISHERIES AND ICEBERG PATROL

Ottawa, March 28.—When the House met yesterday afternoon the resolution of Premier Borden for the ratification of the new treaty with Japan was passed, and the bill providing for the carrying of the same into effect was given its first reading. Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that he would discuss the measure upon its second reading.

Premier Borden explained that the new treaty does not differ materially, as far as Canada is concerned, from the old treaty, which was denounced in April, 1911. As May 5 is the last day of its provisions, the bill will receive an early second reading.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley rose on a question of privilege to complain that Hon. W. T. White had accused him and other members of the opposition of planning to obstruct the passage of the bill.

The discussion, however, did not break off immediately, as A. K. Maclean and Mr. Carvell both spoke, and Mr. Bureau, of the West Indies, inquired when the West Indies bill would finally come up for the third reading. "In due course," replied Mr. White briefly.

North Sea Patrol.
Hon. Mr. Lemieux inquired regarding the report that the marine department intended to co-operate with the Imperial Board of Trade, of England, in patrolling the North Atlantic for icebergs.

Hon. Mr. Hazen said the report was true, and said that the bulletins received from the Scotia would be sent out by England, would be received at Quebec, and would be available for all Canadian shipping interests. In addition, the Canadian government steamer Montcalm would perform a like duty at the mouth of the St. Lawrence.

Mr. German asked the minister of marine and fisheries if, in view of his recent trip to Washington, he had any announcement to make in regard to the position of the treaty relating to the protection of the fish in boundary waters.

Mr. Hazen replied that he would rather not make a statement at the present time. He had reason to expect that some action would be taken in the near future.

Water Levels Board.
F. B. Carvell then introduced a discussion on the water levels of the St. Lawrence by referring to the appointment of a board to consider the question. The board is to consist of Professor Eugene Haskell, of Cornell University; Mr. Stewart, head of the Hydrographic Survey, and W. Forner, superintendent of the St. Lawrence ship canal. He noted a statement in the press to the effect that Professor Haskell would make the work a summer holiday affair, and would not charge the government anything but his expenses.

Mr. Carvell then went on to discuss the question of a reduction of the water level in Montreal harbor. He said figures had been placed in his hands showing the effect of dredging upon the depth of the water in the harbor, which were so astonishing that he would not take the responsibility of placing them on record. In view of the importance of the matter, he expressed doubt as to whether the commission proposed would be able to make as accurate and scientific a report as it would be desirable to have. The minister, he said, should go all over the world if necessary and get the best men available to do the work.

St. Lawrence Channel.
Hon. J. D. Hazen, in reply, said that not many years ago the depth of the St. Lawrence channel was only fourteen feet. The government had gone ahead with the deepening and widening of the channel, with the result that vessels drawing thirty feet of water can now proceed with safety to Montreal. Efforts were now being made to increase the depth of the channel to thirty-five feet. The question he arisen as to whether or not it would be possible to go on with the deepening of the channel without having compensating works to prevent the lowering of the water in the harbor at Montreal and at other points.

He had discussed the matter with officials, and they had urged upon him the desirability of getting outside of Canada a body of services of an engineer with a proper knowledge of the study of water levels. Professor Haskell, who in past years has had a large experience with the work on the Hudson, Mississippi and other rivers, was recommended to him as the best man available for the work. In conclusion, the minister denied that Professor Haskell was going to make a holiday task of this inquiry. It would take him not longer than three months, and for his services he would receive all his expenses and $25 per day.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley expressed the view that the levels of the whole St. Lawrence system should be considered at the same time, and that the inquiry should not be confined to the waters below Montreal.

Mr. Hazen took the view that to investigate levels all over the Great Lakes as well as on the St. Lawrence would be a work of years, and that it would be better to go ahead and do something on a part of the problem at once.

Hon. Robert Rogers, replying to a question by Mr. Graham, said he had never heard of the proposal that the government, in conjunction with American authorities, should build a dam across the St. Lawrence at Long Sault.

Motion of Censure.

Mr. Kite, Liberal member for Richmond, N. S., offered an amendment last night to the motion to go into supply, censuring the government for its action in the Captain Landry case. The matter has been discussed several times by the House, the opposition charging that Landry was appointed as wharfinger in Richmond county while he was under arrest on a charge of forgery, and that upon his conviction, he was liberated on a ticket-of-leave so as to permit him to discharge the duties of his office.

Mr. Hazen explained that the appointment was a petty one, to which Landry had been named on the recommendation of Mr. Gillies, the Conservative candidate for Richmond at the last election, and that he had been removed from office when the matter was drawn to attention of the minister.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, said the ticket-of-leave had been issued upon representations as to Landry's physical condition, and without the knowledge of the department that he held any official position. He denied that any political influence had been brought to bear on the department.

Hon. Mr. White, minister of finance, who was acting minister of justice when Landry was released, accused Mr. Kite of lack of sincerity in bringing this matter up. It was all a matter of political play, he said, and there was no collusion.

E. M. Macdonald raised the point of order that the minister could not accuse a member of lack of sincerity. Speaker Sproule ruled that the point of order was well taken, and Mr. White withdrew the expression.

At 1:20 the House divided on Mr. Kite's amendment to the motion to go into supply. It was defeated on a vote of 33 to 45, a government majority of 12.

The House then spent a few minutes in passing supply, and rose at 1:45.

SOCIAL DANCE HALL

Service Board to Petition City Commission With Support of Church

Tacoma, Wash., March 28.—Planning to have Tacoma's society matrons act as patronesses, the social service board yesterday voted to petition the city commission to establish a municipal dance hall in Dreamland rink, over the public market. The motion was made by William Hoover to address a communication to the council asking it to initiate the proposal, and Rev. R. H. McGinnis, of the Episcopal church of the Holy Communion, seconded.

The board directed a special committee to obtain an option on the rink to prevent other parties from engaging it. A fee of five cents a dance was considered the right charge for each couple. The dance should end at 11:30 o'clock, it was said, which would allow about ten regular dances with an extra or two.

TRIED TO DIE, BUT FAILED IN ATTEMPT

Boat Builder Walks Street for Hours With Gash in Throat

Vallejo, Cal., March 28.—J. Vandyke, a pioneer boat-builder of this city, walked the street for several hours with his throat cut yesterday before his condition was discovered. There is a possibility that he will recover.

Vandyke said he had fastened his throat with a razor in his room in the early morning and lain down to die. He woke up at noon, bleeding and weak, but afraid to see a doctor. Wrapping a cloth around his throat, he walked the streets for several hours before friends took him to a doctor's office. It was found his windpipe had been severed, but the jugular vein was untouched.

WANTS TO CONSIDER OFFER FROM CANADA

Phillip Morrell Moves Naval Plan of Dominions Be Placed Before House

DEPARTURE TO RELIEVE BRITISH TAXPAYERS

London, March 28.—At the close of Right Hon. Winston Churchill's statement on the naval situation in the House of Commons, Phillip Morrell, the Liberal member for Burnley, moved: "That whilst cordially welcoming and appreciating the generous desire expressed by the Dominions to co-operate in the naval defence of the Empire, no step ought to be taken to recommend or accept the carrying out of such co-operation until the matter had been definitely submitted to the House for consideration and approval."

Mr. Morrell stated that it was obvious that this departure was to relieve the British taxpayer, and if the Dominions' ships were withdrawn Great Britain would have to replace them herself. The speaker acquiesced the first lord of any attempt to interfere in party politics in Canada, though it was through him that the House was largely guided in the direction given to this particular scheme.

"I never asked for any particular scheme when Premier Borden left this country," said Mr. Churchill. "I had no idea what he intended proposing to the Canadian parliament."

Mr. Morrell stated he was very glad to get that assurance, and asked the first lord if he could not do something to make the Canadian offer come as an offer from a united people. (Ministerial cheers.)

A. A. Pensonby, who represents Strling, said he thought it was doing a bad service to Canada to draw her into the tangled skein of European diplomacy, which was ever becoming more knotted, and for this reason he supported the policy by which Canada would have no voice in the control of foreign affairs, and did not approve the contribution to a centralized naval force.

He thought the note of alarm had been sounded too loud in the first lord's speech. These continual scares and emergencies brought forward weakened very much the appeal which the Admiralty might have to make when a real emergency arose.

Mr. Churchill's speech, owing to the stormy scene which preceded it, started four hours later than was originally anticipated. The first lord's proposal that all nations should take a year's naval holiday was greeted with heartiness by the ministerialists, and general cheers greeted his proposal that the Dominions' ships should form a new squadron.

RESCUING WORK AT DAYTON COMMENCED

Many Bodies Being Recovered From the River at Riverdale

PATHETIC STORIES TOLD OF CALAMITY

Dayton, Ohio, March 28.—(Via Miami.)—Many dead are being removed from the river at Riverdale. They are being placed three deep along the bank, according to word just received at Western Union headquarters. The bodies were washed up or exposed as the water fell. No one knows how many have been recovered. The five different sections of the town practically are cut off from each other.

Through all, prominently in the front, stands the fact that the firm belief in the strength of the great Miami river levee and a feeling of safety added much to the huge death-loss. Early Tuesday morning volunteers hurried through the threatened districts warning the residents to move. These warnings were largely disregarded, and at 8 o'clock the people were struggling for their lives in the rush of waters.

The west levee had gone out. Other breaks followed. A reservoir break added to the torrents and homes were jerked from their foundations and torn to pieces. The Fifth street bridge and a railroad bridge went out. Four others are standing and can be used as soon as the water goes down.

The toll of life was augmented through the lack of boats. Riverdale, where the greater number were saved, had twenty-five boats taken from a pleasure resort. Their volunteers risked their lives to remove persons trapped in their homes. On Third street in West Dayton a flat car weighed down with pig iron is being run down into the flooded district on the street car tracks to bring out water-bound persons. Six men go on the car and a hundred or more pull it out of the water by a huge cable. Rescued persons, who for two days have expected death with every minute, are lifted from the car to waiting automobiles and taken to shelter.

Women and children collapsed and strong men are so weak with cold and fatigue they have to be carried. Hundreds have been rescued here and more wait the coming of the flat car. On the sidewalks crowds of persons who have friends and relatives in the inundated districts scan every face. Sometimes there are cries of happiness as the vigil is rewarded, but more often the crowds are disappointed.

After hanging to the roofs of their home for thirty hours, with strong winds blowing and a heavy snow falling, August Schmidt, his wife and two children were rescued yesterday. None of them could move a muscle, being chilled through. They were removed to Van Cleave school, where hundreds of other rescued were taken.

In a foreign settlement a father shot and killed his four children and his wife and then jumped into the flood. Very few cases of looting have been reported. Two looters caught by the militia were taken before the chief of police.

"Don't bring looters to me," the officer said. "Kill them where caught."

On Tuesday in the business district show cases filled with silverware, costly cut glass and jewelry floated out of a store, going downstream.

From all parts of Dayton, can stories of heroic rescues. The stolid volunteers pay no attention to danger. All of them for three days have constantly offered their lives to save others. Several lost their lives. Watchers on the banks saw them trying to reach persons in floating houses, saw their boats upset and the men go down.

Late in the day a large frame house floated down the stream. Four women were at the windows. As they neared the Main street bridge they waited at the crowd on the banks and the building struck the piers. There was a swirl in the waters and a little farther downstream the debris appeared, but without the women.

Farmers from north of Dayton as far as thirty miles are answering an appeal for provisions and bringing all they can spare. Relief stations are furnishing food and clothing to all who come.

SENATE PAYS TRIBUTE TO SENATOR M'MULLEN

Ottawa, March 28.—The senate resumed its sittings yesterday after the Easter recess. With the opening of the House tributes of respect were paid to the memory of the late Senator M'Mullen by the Hon. Mr. Loughheed, Senator Dandurand and Senator Cloran.

The following bills were read a third time: Respecting the Hudson Bay Peace River and Pacific Railway Company; respecting the Alberta Interurban Railway Company; respecting the Brantford and Hamilton Electric Railway Co.; respecting the Ottawa and Montreal Transmission Co.

Last year Canada secured 35,944 immigrants, of whom 16,850 were British, 10,142 from the United States and 19,952 from Continental Europe.

The shoes sold before the city council this evening, save routine matters, and reports of committees. There are one or two resolutions scheduled for attention, one being Alderman Houston's calling for a vote of departments employing labor give preference to married men resident within the city limits.

As soon as the council business is concluded, the council will go into committee. The paving committee will be chosen from such face one or two suggestions to make, and there is to be considered the report on the proposed widening of Fowl road as a result of the conference in the Oak Bay authorities yesterday.

There are a number of items of unfinished business which have not been taken up, one being the report on the expropriations for Sooke waterworks, which has lain over for weeks. Except the inquiry of last evening, and comment on the future action which may be taken in connection with the investigation when evidence is called next Tuesday, there is very little moving in city hall circles now.

The council passed about $60,000 off the estimates as presented originally, and a final revision is being made at the request of the committee.

FLOREAU AUSTRALIA.

The Honorable George E. Foster, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, is in Australia. Most likely he was present at the arrival of the battle cruiser Melbourne on Wednesday at the port after which she was named. We wonder if he was impressed by the enthusiasm and patriotic fervor which characterized the scene. What must he have thought when he saw the wave of pride which swept over the cheering throng as they contemplated for the first time the formidable capital ship of their own fleet unit?

"Australia is a nation; she is of age; she has cut her leading strings," he heard on every side, while at Ottawa the government is urging a vote of $35,000,000 for three ships which are to be stationed at Gibraltar, to be manned and maintained at the expense of the British taxpayers.

He, no doubt, attended the banquet at Melbourne on the evening of the ship's arrival and heard Lord Denham, the Governor-General say:

"It is a noteworthy fact that whereas the other dominions of the British Empire have contributed ships or money for imperial naval defence, Australia is the first of the overseas dominions to train men for service in the British fleet. This is a decided step toward the solution of the problem of imperial defence. Considering Australia's sacrifices of both men and money, none can question her right to own her own fleet."

He heard also the Premier and Minister of Defence proclaim their satisfaction that Australia had taken up the burden in the southern seas the mother country had uncompromisingly borne so long. He heard them express the earnest hope that the sister dominions would follow their example. How humiliated Mr. Foster must have felt when he recalled that for partisan purposes his government had abandoned the policy which Australia has so enthusiastically and patriotically taken up, giving as a reason for its action that Canadians were incapable of organizing a naval force and, that, to use Mr. Borden's words, "it would be too hazardous and costly!"

"Our ships have already been paid for," said the Australian Minister of Defence, "and we have not left anything to future generations to take upon their shoulders." What a pitiful contrast to this splendid patriotism is presented by the doctrine expounded in this country that "nothing of an effective character can be built up in Canada within perhaps half a century!" Think what Australia is doing for the Empire. She has her battle cruiser in service in her own waters; she is building a cruiser and several destroyers in her own yards. She is about to open up her iron resources in order to build her own armaments independently of the steel trust. She is going to have fifty-two ships at a cost of $200,000,000. She is making history. Her people, ninety-three per cent, from the homeland, are exhibiting the same devotion, self-reliance and enterprise that made little Old England the mother of nations. True sons of the breed, they are going to keep the white ensign flying on the Pacific. Floreat Australia.

CANADIANS IN THE STATES.

It is interesting to note in a bulletin recently issued by the Bureau of the Census at Washington the figures relating to Canadian immigration into the States. The table contained therein gives a comparative estimate of the number of people from the Dominion who have crossed the line to stay in the last six decades. Starting with the year 1800 these numbers show a steady growth of Canadian-born population resident in the republic up to the year 1900. The increase in the census of 1900 over that of 1890 is very small.

Various causes can be assigned for this notable growth of Canadian born population across the border. In the sixties the war of secession in the United States created a demand for men and raised wages to a figure that was extremely high in comparison with what could be earned in the Canada of pre-confederation days. The lure of higher wages and increased luxuries of living was just as great then as now with the consequence that many crossed the rubicon for financial reasons.

Yet again the army of the North drew away many bold and adventurous spirits, especially among the younger Canadians, from farm, forest and settlement, while a yet greater number crossed to fill up vacancies in industrial and commercial life that the terrible carnage of the Civil War had occasioned. Later the demand for more workers consequent on the great industrial expansion in New England and New York, in addition to the phenomenal development of the city of Chicago, resulted in the fact that the census of 1910 disclosed that there were 526,239 Canadian people in the England states alone, while in when the first real estimates taken there were only 249,970 of Canadian birth in the whole of U. S. day there are over a million. Yet it is encouraging to note that last decade saw many less people heretofore cross the line. In 1900 Canadian population in the States was 1,179,922; in 1910 this number had increased to 1,204,637, whereas the previous ten years had seen an augmentation of 200,000 souls. The reason for this change is not far to seek. It was during the years 1900-1910 that the Canadian West first began to make pressing claims upon the attention of wage-earners, farmers and capitalists. The campaign of publicity then organized achieved its purpose. Men looking for wider opportunities on horizons began to gaze not across the national border as before, but to the westward where the great wheat land cried aloud for settlement. The increase in the manufacturing industry in Western Canada also operated to create openings and good wages for those who had neither the training nor the capacity for pioneer work.

These conditions have been instrumental also in drawing from the States not only many agricultural hands but skilled artisans and commercial workers, so that Canada to-day is receiving from over the line more people than she sends there. In all the statistics go to show that Canadians to the number of one-seventh of the population of their country have sought and found homes in the republic. The movement may not be expected to cease, but it will be the ardent wish of all Canadians that the outward flow, the ebb of Canadian people, will be less in the future than ever before.

A NATION

He had a magazine in his hand. He said he was not quite sure how good a publication it was, but he had subscribed to it because it was a Canadian publication, and he added: "When I buy a thing, I try to get one of Canadian make; if I cannot get a Canadian article, I take one made in Great Britain. If I cannot get one of British make, I do the best I can and take something made in the United States. But with me the wheel stands in Canada first. This is the spirit which will make Canada a nation."

Our contemporary speaks truly. Canada cannot become a nation if her people lack national sentiment. Then can be no real imperialism in the country unless it is based upon undying Canadianism. The strength and purpose of the imperial spirit is in direct proportion to the intensity of local patriotism. In the House of Commons at Ottawa the other day one of the government members expressed the startling opinion that it did not follow that a good Canadian was a good imperialist. In other words his view was that there could be antagonism between real Canadianism and real imperialism. And he was decidedly wrong. If the people of Canada are not good Canadians they cannot be good imperialists. The value of their imperialism depends entirely upon their value as citizens in the land of their birth or adoption if it is part of the empire. If Canadians devoted themselves to building up a vigorous and prosperous nation they would be building up the empire to that extent. If they devitalize the nation they devitalize the empire. The man who regards imperialism as something which only operates outside the boundaries of his own country is a source of weakness to the imperial structure. If every governing states devotes itself undeviatingly to national development in defence, trade and commerce and in social progress, the British empire will endure for all time. The greater the nation, the happier and more prosperous the people, the stronger will become the attachment for, and pride in, the empire of which they form a part. It is only when the dark days come, when despair and black hopelessness pale over a people that they look for relief to other conditions.

But national sentiment and aspirations must have something to grow upon and something to stimulate them.

"Suspirations of forced breath," resolutions passed in meetings, heroic attitudes and patriotic songs are not the elements that create a national destiny. Nationalism is practical and must do things. If we say we are incompetent to build ships, that we are too lacking in a sense of honor to be entrusted with that task, we are not only retarding our national development but are adopting an attitude that some day will make us a weak link in the imperial chain. Forty years ago a great British statesman said that if Canada continued to depend upon Britain for military protection, our national spirit and capacity would decay, and he might have added that when that happened our patriotism would become anaemic and moribund. To be a nation connotes the acceptance of a nation's burdens and responsibilities as well as its advantages. And that means the burden of defence alongside of industrial development. We are not doing a nation's work in paying other people to defend us.

gets any information on this point he must be a miracle-worker, because Mr. Borden himself does not know what his permanent policy will be. The only step he has taken along this line is to announce that he does not believe Canada can build up an effective naval organization within perhaps half a century.

Cleveland has fired Chief of Police Kohler, who leaped into prominence some time ago by proclaiming his belief in the Golden Rule method of dealing with criminals. He became known as the Golden Rule chief. He has been found guilty of gross immorality and conduct unbecoming of an officer. Evidently his code of ethics did not extend beyond the application of the Golden Rule to lawbreakers.

SWALLOWED HIMSELF

(London Advertiser)
Sir Richard McBride two years ago was shouting for a fleet unit on the Pacific coast, and Borden candidates were elected in British Columbia by promising one. To-day Sir Richard is shouting against a fleet unit, echoing his leader, the erstwhile Canadian navy champion. Men who are traitors to their own words should not boast of their loyalty.

PRINCE CONSORTS.

(From the Pall Mall Gazette)
The last century was more fertile in male sovereigns than the present. In the 40s three young queens occupied the thrones of England, Spain and Portugal—Victoria, Isabella and Maria da Gloria. Following their respective consorts were Prince Albert, Prince Ferdinand and Prince Leopold. The last two were the nominal title of king, to which Prince Albert never aspired.

PROTECT YOUR HEALTH

By Using a Spencer Germ-proof Refrigerator

YOU take all kinds of precautions to protect your health in cold and warm weather by wearing spotlessly clean and suitable clothing, but that's not the only source of danger. Are you protecting your food from being poisoned by the thousands and millions of seen and unseen germs that float in the air.

TAKE NO RISK

A good refrigerator means better food and protected health. We have made a careful search of the markets and the lines we have chosen for this season's selling are in our opinion the best that can be sold. Will give perfect satisfaction, and the prices are quite moderate.

OUR SPECIAL—In three sizes. This is the lowest price refrigerator we carry, but there is nothing cheap about it, except the price. The same system of circulation is to be found in this line as in the more expensive. The case is made of well seasoned, kiln-dried hardwood, finished in golden oak; plain raised panels and swinging base; has five walls insulated, bronze lever locks and hinges. Provision and ice chambers lined with galvanized steel, removable shelves and strong ice rack.

NO. 1—Length, 26 inches; depth, 17 inches; height, 40 inches. Price .....$8.90

NO. 2—Same as No. 1, only larger. Length, 29 inches; depth, 19 inches; height, 42 inches. Price .....$12.90

NO. 3, SPECIAL—Same as No. 2, only larger. Length, 32 inches; depth, 20 inches; height, 45 inches. Price .....$16.75

THE CROWN—This grade of refrigerator has all the necessary features that go to make a good working refrigerator at a popular price. Made of thoroughly seasoned kiln-dried hardwood, finished golden oak. The cabinet work is particularly good, such as you would expect in a more expensive grade. Has five walls and is insulated with cerite paper and mineral wool; inside chambers lined with galvanized steel; cleanable flues, removable provision shelves, strong ice rack, metal syphon trap on bottom of drain pipe; bronze locks and hinges. The provision chamber is finished in white.

NO. 1—Length, 29 inches; depth, 19 inches; height, 43 inches. Price .....$17.50

NO. 2—Length, 32 inches; depth, 20 inches; height, 46 inches. Price .....$19.75

NO. 3—Length, 36 inches; depth, 21 inches; height, 46 inches. Price .....$26.75
NO. 4—The favorite of this grade. Has the open front door to ice chamber. The other three sizes have the lift-up lid. Another feature being three provision shelves against two only in the other sizes. Length, 30 inches; depth, 20 inches; height, 54 inches. Price .....$28.75

THE PACIFIC REFRIGERATOR—Made of Northern ash, finished in golden oak; swinging base; splendid cabinet work and excellent finish; has eight walls, and air space insulated with mineral wool—the best non-conductor known. The shelves are all made of heavy re-tinned woven wire, 7-8 inch mesh, making a strong shelf, and allowing perfect circulation. By a simple arrangement the shelf space can be adjusted to suit and provisions placed in the box. This grade are all lined with pure white enamel on galvanized steel, making a sanitary and desirable lining. Nickel-plated lock, hinges, etc., with detachable drip pipe.

NO. 1—Length, 29 inches; depth, 20 inches; height, 46 inches. Price .....$29.75

NO. 2, PACIFIC—Length, 32 inches; depth, 20 inches; height, 46 inches. Price .....$34.75

NO. 3, PACIFIC—Length, 32 inches; depth, 22 inches; height, 56 inches. Price .....$39.75

NOTE—In addition to the above lines we carry a large range of genuine enamel and porcelain lined refrigerators, suitable for hotel and store use, particulars of which we will be pleased to send to those interested. Values from $65.00 to .....$100.00

MOOSE TEAM ENTERS ISLAND BALL LEAGUE

An amateur baseball league is being formed embracing Victoria, Chemainus, Ladysmith and Nanaimo. Last year the three up-island towns formed a league and played out their schedule, and a good brand of ball was played. This year the Victoria L. O. O. Moose will represent the Victoria in the league, making it a four-team league. The Moose team promises to be one of the best amateur teams Victoria has had for some time. Ed Plummer has been appointed manager of the Victoria Moose team and is busy signing up men for the season. The Moose will also play home-and-home games with the strong Moose teams of Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver.

The Moose team will begin practicing next Sunday morning at Beacon Hill and Manager Plummer wishes all those wishing to get a place on the team to try and get out for a workout.

STATION SITE SELECTED

Mayor Robinson, of Kamloops, announces Position of Canadian Northern Station.

That the Canadian Northern will locate its station at the point on the Indian reserve at Kamloops, opposite the end of Third avenue, was the statement made to the Times this morning by Mayor Robinson, who had just concluded an interview with government officials.

This announcement will come as a relief to many who have invested in property in the inland capital on the assumption that the station and shops of the company would be located on the Indian reserve.

Kamloops is located at the junction of the North and South Thompson rivers, and on the northeast side of the confluence of the two rivers, the Indians have held a reserve for many years. The city itself is located on the south side of the South Thompson river. Recently, during the rapid expansion of what the residents are pleased to call the Inland Capital, there has been some speculation as to whether or not the railway company would be able to secure the Indian reserve for a townsite and as a site for its station, and the announcement of Mayor Robinson confirms the predictions which have been made.

Mayor Robinson has been the chief magistrate of his city for many years, having been re-elected repeatedly. He is one of the best known men in the interior.

ROUTINE BUSINESS FOR COUNCIL TO-NIGHT

Restriction of Employment on Civic Works to Most Needy Applicants

There will not be much business before the city council this evening, save routine matters, and reports of committees. There are one or two resolutions scheduled for attention, one being Alderman Houston's calling for heads of departments employing labor to give preference to married men residing within the city limits.

As soon as the council business is concluded, the council will go into committee. The paving committee will have one or two suggestions to make, and there is to be considered the report on the proposed widening of Fowl Bay road as a result of the conference with the Oak Bay authorities yesterday.

There are a number of items of unfinished business which have not been taken up, one being the report on the negotiations for Sooke waterworks, which has lain over for weeks.

Except the inquiry of last evening, and comment on the future action which may be taken in connection with the investigation when evidence is called next Tuesday, there is very little moving in city hall circles now.

The council passed about $60,000 off the estimates as presented originally, and a final revision is being made at the present time by the comptroller with a view to the introduction of the estimates by-law. This is the form in which the estimates are approved, and which governs the city council expenditure for the year.

ROAD NEARS COMPLETION

Contractor for C. N. R. Line to New Shaft Discusses Work.

Clarence Hoard, contractor for the Canadian Collieries spur line to the new No. 3 shaft, stated to the Times at the Empress hotel this morning that he expects that the construction will be completed within a few weeks. Mr. Hoard has this contract in addition to one for eleven miles from Trent river to Courtenay for the Canadian Pacific railway, which is part of the general projected development of the role of the company up the east side of Vancouver Island.

Discussing the development work at the new mine of the Canadian Collieries, Mr. Hoard informed the Times that there have been built already between forty and fifty houses for the accommodation of miners' families by the company.

For many years Mr. Hoard was connected with the Canadian Pacific railway as an engineer and during that time he located the road to Lulu Island, which is at present leased to the British Columbia Electric Railway Company. He was also connected with the railway contracting business only at a comparatively recent date. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska. The contracts which he has on hand at present amount to over half a million dollars.

OVERRULING OF GOAL COSTS VICTORIA

SECOND GAME OF WORLD'S HOCKEY SERIES

Senators Beaten 6 to 3 in Game That Should Have Gone Into Overtime; N. H. A. Rules Deprive Locals of Deciding Game

Only the strictest interpretation of the eastern rules robbed Victoria of two straight victories over Quebec and the world's hockey championship, when the Senators had two goals taken from them in the third period of last night's hockey feature at the rink, the eastern champions carrying off the long end of a 6 to 3 score after the coast title-holders had tied up the game twice on goals that were disallowed. The wind-up was a very disappointing one, Quebec getting two goals in the last minute of play and doubling the score on the Victoria sextette. Six-man hockey will never do if the game is to end in such a dispute as that of last night, and as for the N. H. A. rules, penalty and substitution, they are the greatest jokes of the century. Referee Art Ross and Judge of Play Billy Field endeavored to carry out these laws to the letter, and what ever credit is due Quebec for their victory is overshadowed by the undisputable fact that the easterners were outplayed for two goals in the final session which were taken from Victoria.

Crowd Very Peeved.

Never has such a disgruntled crowd departed from a hockey match as that which attended last night's game, the mythical rules being largely responsible for the uncomfortable feeling. Lester Patrick's ice dogs went out and beat Quebec at their own style of play, six-man hockey, and only the "breaks" of the contest handed the victory to Quebec. The easterners played beautiful hockey, but the Goddess of Fortune smiled broadly upon the Ancient City Bulldogs, four of their goals being registered on long shots, while Victoria had a brace of failures called back. Had either of the disputed goals been allowed the game would have gone into overtime, and from the manner in which Victoria was tearing through the Quebec defence, the coast champions would have taken the odd goal. Quebec, however, must be credited with the win, and the series remains a tie, the final to be staged at the Arena on Saturday night. This will decide the world's championship.

Chiefly Lone Rushes.

One of the biggest crowds of the year witnessed the contest, and the game was replete with thrills. The hockey was good and had in spots, the six-man style admitting of a lot of loose work, while there was little or no combination. The players relied chiefly upon individual rushes, many long shots falling harmlessly off the goalposts, while the frequent substitutions marred the game and made it a difficult matter to keep up with the game. The injustice of replacing a player who is ruled off with a fresh man was shown several times, and this was indirectly responsible for Victoria's defeat. Quebec demonstrated by its slight defence, the perfect six-man system that it has devised, and in holding that aggressive Victoria line to three goals, the team showed themselves to be a squad of great defensive calibre. The game was marred by too frequent use of the whistle, play being stopped time and again because a player skated offside, a rule that is in vogue only in the N. H. A.

Easterners Started Well.

Quebec took a couple of goals in easy fashion at the start, Tommy Smith diving a low shot that grazed Lester Patrick's leg and entered the net, while Crawford hoisted one in from the side on a lone rush. Mummery made it three to nothing when he sailed up single-handed and pounded in one from the boards. Producers scored Victoria's first on a pass from Dunderdale and Lester Patrick took the next when Bobby Rowe went in from the face-off. Small tied the score and set the crowd into hysterics when he batted the rubber past Moran from a scrimmage. Crawford putting Quebec ahead a minute later on a nice side-shot. The teams entered the final quarter with Quebec leading by one goal, then came the fireworks. Victoria started out in a do-or-die attempt to pull down Quebec's lead. The Ancient City team had four men on the defence and Victoria was continually hanging away at Moran. Finally Lester and Bobby Rowe went through and scored, but Judge of Play Field called an offside that surely looked a hair line decision. He was hooted for this, but the crowd went frantic when Referee Ross would not give Victoria credit for the goal that Bob Genge scored on a rebound.

That Disputed Goal.

Quebec alleged that Ulrich had been on the ice when the goal was scored, and the officials upheld their contention, a face-off in front of the goal resulting. Victoria faded like a spent bullet after their second goal had been called back, and though but a minute remained Tommy Smith went through alone for a nice goal, Marks getting the final when Lindsay stopped Malone's rebound, but fell in clearing. Victoria had been travelling like a house, after-up to the time that the goals were disallowed, and both teams were scarcely able to stand, the pace having been terrific from the start. Missed passes were accounted for by the hooking that both sides indulged in, but the shooting of the Senators was very poor in the opening periods. Quebec took full advantage of their opportunities. The easterners had the "breaks," and that was enough to beat the Senators, who showed marvellous form at the six-man game against the recognized title-holders of the abbreviated hockey.

Senators Finished Strong.

Victoria forwards outlasted Quebec, but the locals did not display the faintest semblance of combination. Lindsay was good throughout, while Goldie Producers showed a lot of that old time "pep" in his rushes. Lester Patrick, as usual, directed the team in its every move, he and Poulin being the pick of the line. Bobby Genge and Tommy Dunderdale were improvement, while Bobby Rowe had any amount of speed. Walter Small got on long enough to score a goal, and Silent Ulrich took the edge off his skates for about a minute. Manager Patrick used all his substitutes, Lindsay being the only man to retain his position all night.

Moran a Marvel.

Paddy Moran never played greater hockey than last night, while Tommy Smith and Joe Malone are travelling at the form that busted all records in the east. Moran got everything and Smith a couple of goals, but the pair were effective in other ways. Crawford and Marks had a lot of speed, the pair checking back wonderfully well. Jeff Malone and Jack Marks acted as spares, Rowe, Small and Ulrich starting out on the bench for Victoria.

CRAWFORD AND SMITH IN LEAD

So far Joe Malone, the Quebec captain, is not breaking any records for goal-getting in the coast series. Tommy Smith, the Quebec left wing, and Crawford are leading the scorers with three goals, while Lester Patrick, Skimmer Poulin and Marks are well in front. The totals are:

Smith, Quebec	3
Crawford, Quebec	3
Patrick, Victoria	2
Genge, Victoria	2
Poulin, Victoria	2
Malone, Quebec	2
Marks, Quebec	2
Dunderdale, Victoria	1
Producers, Victoria	1
Rowe, Victoria	1
Small, Victoria	1
Mummery, Quebec	1

REMARKED ON THE SIDE.

Quebec Lucky to Escape Defeat.

Eastern rules, eastern officials and all, Quebec were very lucky to escape a defeat at the hands of the coast champions last night, the "breaks" favoring the blue and white sextette to such an extent that Victoria had two goals called back in the third period at a time when a goal meant a tie-up. About a minute and a half remained to go when Genge headed through the goal that was called back, and the contest would surely have gone into overtime, with Victoria going stronger every minute. Referee Ross may have ruled rightly according to the N. H. A. laws, but it was the rawest deal ever pulled over on a Victoria sporting organization. Ulrich was not in the play that resulted in the goal and was climbing over the fence when the puck slid past Moran. Quebec protested, however, and Victoria's attack fell flat when the goal was called back. Victoria looks a big favorite to win, from Quebec to-morrow night.

Six-Man Hockey Will Never Reach the Coast.

If the ragged hockey and utter lack of combination failed to make an impression upon the fans at last night's game, the unsatisfactory windup of the big match, together with the refusal of the officials to allow Victoria a brace of goals that the coast champions clearly carried about settled matters. Six-man hockey may be all right in the cigar-box affairs in the east, but here on the coast where we have the best rink in the Dominion, the best hockey is looked for. Six-man hockey does not fill this bill and there is not a chance in a thousand that the style will ever be adopted on the coast. Then those N. H. A. rules, with the "sempiternal" stuff adopted by the referee for the penalty finish off a decided burlesque on hockey. Last night's game was clean, but at that the officials found time to stop the play while they put a man off, adding to the number of times the whistle was blown. Art Ross, who refereed last night, is the man who framed up the six-man rules, and if he can't hand out decisions as they should be, no one can.

Victoria Lacrosse Club is a Certainty.

There is now no doubt but that Victoria will become a prominent factor in the Coast Lacrosse League hereafter. Owner John Virtue and his associates have secured admittance to the B. C. L. A. and it is now up to Lionel York to gather together a team that will make a showing. In this he is being assisted by both the Vancouver and Westminster clubs, who have promised the Capital City club the services of a number of players. Manager York will have to recruit home players mostly, for there are a number of good defence men on the coast. Give Victoria a team that will win its home games and the success of the local club, financially and otherwise, is assured. Nine home games, distributed between May and September, should give the Capital City fans enough lacrosse, and with a winning team four and five thousand spectators should be the regular gate.

Better Clothes Are Not Made at the Price

"Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes" and "Proper Clothes" Have Them All Trimmed

SEE OUR NEW SPRING MODELS AT $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00

"Going strong in your statements?" "Yes, we have something to be enthusiastic about, and the suits will stand more than we would care to say about them here." You are to be the judge, and we will value your opinion of the style, materials and tailoring that have been put into these garments. They are made by master craftsmen for men who value and appreciate good tailoring, smart styles and excellent materials. We have them in all sizes, and there are models to fit men of all builds.

SERGES AND CHEVIOTS in navy blue, made by "Proper Clothes" tailors, are suits we are proud of. Complaints are rare and we are willing to replace garments that fail to live up to the standard of quality that we represent them to be. Examine our lines at $20.00 and $25.00 and you'll agree that they are the best you have ever seen.

IN WORSTEDS and OTHER NEW WEAVES we are showing some splendid patterns and colors. In tweeds there is a very desirable range of mixtures and the materials are a suitable weight for the coming season. You'll get a good suit at $15.00, but we recommend our special values at $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00.

TWENTY-ONE CHANGES MADE DURING GAME

Breaking all records for substituting players, the six-man style of play had the spectators guessing at last night's match. Frank Patrick was on the side line and attended to the changing of Victoria's players, while Manager Mike Quinn handled the megaphone for Quebec. The list of changes follows:

First period—Marks for Crawford, Rowe for Genge.
Second period—Crawford for Marks, Genge for Rowe, Rowe for Genge, Small for Poulin, Genge for Patrick, Marks for Malone, Poulin for Rowe, Malone for Smith, Rowe for Small, Producers for Genge, Genge for Poulin, Smith for Malone, Poulin for Dunderdale.

Third period—Dunderdale for Poulin, Poulin for Genge, Genge for Rowe, Rowe for Poulin, Crawford for Smith, Genge for Small, Smith for Marks. Total changes, Quebec 7, Victoria 14.

In addition to the above, every time a player was ruled off another went on in his place, there being over 30 changes all told during the game.

Montreal shipping agents estimate that the immigration to Canada from the British Isles this year will be close to a million.

The Apparel Oft Proclaims the Man

AND another thing worth considering is the fact that it is the small details that count, and either make for good appearance or entirely spoil the effect of a good suit.

Here's some lines well worth your consideration:

Hats For Young Men

Another large shipment just opened up, and they are the smartest styles that we have seen this season. Light, medium and dark colors are included, and the shapes are a treat to see. Prices, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50.

Shirts That Will Please You

Made to fit well; colors won't run or fade, and the stitching will stand a severe test. We have a splendid assortment of patterns, all sizes; and a full range of sleeve lengths. Prices, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00.

Do You Want a Cap?

If so, get the latest style, and get it here, and you'll be pleased with the investment. American and English styles to be had in lots of new colors, materials and patterns. Prices, 75c, $1.00 and $2.00.

Dent's and Fowne's Gloves Give Satisfaction

New colors and a better quality than ever before. That's "going some," because these makers have been the leaders for years. Good values at $2.00, $1.75, $1.50 and $1.00.

Choice Neckwear

The man who cannot find a tie in our stock that will please him is certainly hard to please. What's more important is the fact that every line represents the best you can buy at the price. Call in and see them—there's too many to mention here.

Holeproof Hose

Six pairs in a box, and six pairs last six months without any holes. They are guaranteed. Lots of colors and no better values. Per box, $1.50 to $3.00.

ROSS FRAMED N. H. A. RULES

Quebec Was Conceded Everything Last Night; Managers Battled Over Officials

Lester Patrick showed his sportsmanship last night by taking the ice with a pair of eastern officials and playing eastern hockey under eastern rules. The Quebec team could have asked for nothing more. They had everything in their favor and apparently it was a last straw chance that Manager Quinn held out for. He refused to accept Jimmie Gardner, the New Westminster manager, who had been previously agreed upon, and said that he would not take his team on the ice at all if the Royal City veteran refereed. The two managers looked horns for nearly half an hour before the game began over the question of officials and it was only after refusing the position a dozen times that Art Ross finally accepted the task.

AMATEURS PERFORM TO-NIGHT

British Columbia Ring Titles Will Be Decided at Victoria Theatre; Eleven Bouts on the Programme

Eleven bouts are on the card for tonight's bill at the Victoria theatre when the British Columbia amateur boxing championships will be held at the Victoria theatre under the auspices of the James Bay Athletic Association. The refusal of the committee to accept the Vancouver entries means that the titles will be confined to local boxers, but at that there will be the hottest kind of competition for the titles in five of the feature events. Added to this there are three wrestling bouts and the scream of the evening in the comic boxing event.

Complete Card.
1. 108 pounds—Al. Davies vs. Al. Gerard.
2. 125 pounds—Scott Cropper vs. Charlie Motheral.
3. 135 pounds—Donald McKay vs. Bob Myers.
4. Winner of No. 3 to meet Scotty McKay.
5. Harry Motheral vs. Harry Bucknam.
6. Catchweights—Scotty McKay vs. Harry Willis.
7. 155 pounds—B. Scott vs. Charlie Trow.
8. Heavy—Jack Ross vs. J. Lees.
9. Jack Middleton vs. C. Shulds.
10. C. Richardson vs. Shorty Walton.
11. Comic boxing.

The officials—Referee of boxing, Al. Jeff; referee of wrestling, C. Wrigglesworth; judges, W. Hall and W. Warburton; timekeeper, Len Oliver; announcer, Barney McCall.

SEATTLE SEMI-PRO SQUAD MEET

THE BEES IN TWO GAME SERIES

Lynch's Larrupers Show Their Paces This Afternoon and To-morrow Against Semi-Pros.

Manager Mike Lynch and his Bees were put to a real test this afternoon at the Royal Athletic park when the strong Shiner and Wolf nine, of Seattle met the locals in the first of a two-game series which the Sound City semi-pros will play the Bees at the local ball park. The Bees had a rest yesterday, the rain causing a cessation of the workouts. Lynch's crew welcomed the chance to rest their tired limbs. The team is getting into shape as fast as could be expected and Lynch expects to down the Shiner and Wolf combination without much difficulty. The Bees' leader will work his entire twirling staff and hopes to pick a couple of live ones from the newcomers that he has on hand.

Kiddo Wilson is about the chiestest ball player in the world these days. His team of Yagmians has beaten the regulars two days running and Wilson opines that unless the Lynch crew get busy it will be his team and not that headed by the Terrible Turk that will represent the Capital in the Northwest League. Wilson, however, fears that the regulars will wreck his team by drafting a couple of his stars to save their reputations.

Eddie Gleason will handle the indicator for the exhibition games with the Shiner and Wolf club. The following players arrived this morning with the semi-pro squad: Infielders Rose, Coughlin, Gestasen and Duttout; outfielders, McNeivins, Cooke, Anderson and McLean; batteries, Goss, Stallcop and Cunningham.

Manager Keller, of the semi-pros, will try his boys out against Vancouver next week, and will tackle McGinnity's Tigers in Tacoma the Saturday before the league season opens.

PRACTICE GAMES.

Los Angeles, March 25.—The Venice Coast League team defeated the Chicago American regulars in a sixteen-inning game by a score of 2 to 1.
San Francisco, March 25.—The Oakland team defeated the Chicago American's second team by a score of 2 to 0.

WARD TEAM CHOSEN.

The North Ward intermediate soccer team for to-morrow's game with the Wests is: Humber, J. and H. Ord; Mesher, E. Ord and C. Bishop; Thomas, Howden, A. Pike, McKinnon and J. Cummings. Spares, Menzies and Hopkins.

BOTH STYLES TO BE PLAYED IN FINAL GAME

Saturday night's final for the world's championship will be played at both the six and seven-man styles of hockey. One half will be played with seven men on the ice and the other at the six-man style. Tom Phillips, of Vancouver, and Billy Field, of Winnipeg, will officiate. This was agreed upon by Managers Patrick and Quinn at a conference this morning.

Quebec will play the eastern All-Stars at Vancouver on Monday night, but to-morrow night's fixture winds up hockey in the Capital. The seat plan went on sale at the Fit-Rite parlors this morning.

COAST CLUBS MAY FOOT BILL FOR DAVIS CUP

Victoria will have to foot the greater part of the expenses necessary to send Bobby Powell and Bernard Schwengers to England, as Canada's representatives in the Davis Cup matches. Advice to this effect was received by the local club recently from the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association. The Victoria officials have already voted a sum towards the expenses of the pair, and a sub-committee has been appointed to secure subscriptions towards this trip. Mr. Powell leaves to-day for England and Mr. Schwengers will leave in a few weeks' time.

Extensive improvements have been made to the grounds of the local club, and Capt. Poulkes looks for a record year, over fifty new members having been enrolled. An inter-city series with Vancouver will be a feature of the programme for the coming summer, while the Inter-Club Cup now held by Vancouver will also be competed for some time in May.

EASTERN STARS GIVE SENATORS FULL CREDIT

It was a notable gathering of hockey stars, past and present, who viewed last night's game at the Arena, those players, without exception, giving Victoria credit for winning the game in the full hour's play. Dicky Boone, the Wanderer manager, a former star; Jimmie Gardner, New Westminster's manager; Ed. Oatman, New Westminster; Dutch Neighbour, Toronto; Punch Broadbent, Ottawa; Frank Patrick, Vancouver; Clint Benedict, Ottawa; Carl Kendall, Vancouver, and others whose names are famous wherever hockey is played.

Gardner was strong in his condemnation of the six-man hockey, and as for the penalty rules he styles the ruling system similar to a police court without a jail. "It's a case of the richest man winning in the long run for it's a club that the players will not pay their fines," was his comment.

PEG OARSMEN MAY WITHDRAW FROM A. A. U. OF C.

Winnipeg, March 25.—Winnipeg Rowing Club held their annual meeting to-night, at which it will be decided whether crews will be sent to Henley and St. Catharines. A senior eight will in all probability be sent across the pond to compete at Henley. Another matter of vital interest to Canadian sportsmen is the possible withdrawal of the Rowing Club from the A. A. U. of C. This is owing to their objection to the reinstatement of Billy Breen and Billy Kean.

GARRISON CLUB WANTS GAMES.

Desiring games for the coming season, the Garrison Baseball Club elected its officers for the year as follows: President, Major J. E. Mills; captain and manager, Gunner F. Coro; vice-captain, Gunner P. Hanson; committee, Gunner C. Kropf, Gunner G. Williams, Gunner H. Grimer; secretary, Gunner R. A. Wilcox.

Joe Bayley leaves to-day for his fight to-morrow afternoon at Stove-ton with Charlie Reilly. He will be accompanied by his training partners and will remain in Vancouver to-night, going over to Stove-ton early to-morrow. The champion is confident that he will be returned victor and looks for a knockout. He is fully aware that Reilly is an extremely clever boy, but looks for his own strength to outlast that of the "Frisco expert." Dispatches from Stove-ton state that everything is ready for the big mill and that the arena has been finished, the seats being numbered and all preparations made to receive the thousands who are expected to be on hand for the lightweight battle. Excursions will be run from Vancouver and Victoria, the boat leaving the C. P. R. dock to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock for Stove-ton, returning immediately after the bout.

ALPINE CLUB HOLDS ITS ANNUAL DINNER

Guests Make Reference to Provincial Scenery as a National Asset

DIRECTOR WHEELER OUTLINES PROGRAMME

Two Camps Will Be Held This Year; Membership Growing

"The Ascent of Mt. Sir Donald," as announced on the map-menu of the seventh annual dinner of the Victoria section of the Alpine Club of Canada, proved a most delightful occasion for both members and guests; the event taking place in the private dining-room of the Empress hotel last evening, and being followed by a number of interesting addresses from prominent members of the organization and their guests. About forty guests were present, and a charming scheme of decorations was effected with cases of crimson carnations on the tables, and great pots of spirea placed about the room, while the place cards and menus were decorated with the club colors of silver, green and white.

W. W. Foster, president of the local branch of the organization, acted as chairman and toastmaster, while among the prominent members of the Alpine Club of Canada, present were A. O. Wheeler, director and founder of the organization; F. H. Mitchell, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Henshaw, vice-president of the Vancouver branch of the society. Among the guests were the Hon. Dr. Young, minister of education; and J. G. C. Wood, M.P.P. for Alberni; and R. H. Thompson, Messenger of the press, at their inability to be present were sent by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, the Premier, the Attorney-General and the Hon. Thos. Taylor.

Toast to the Province. The first toast of the evening following that of "The King," was that of "The Province of British Columbia." J. G. C. Wood in proposing which referred to the beauties of British Columbia's scenery, which, he said, surpassed those of any other province in the Dominion. The Alpine features of Strathcona park were as fine as anywhere on the continent, and without needing to go even so far as the Alpinist would find some magnificent climbing and some wonderful scenery at Arrowmith—a more local effort which he would like to see attempted by the members of the club.

Dr. Young, in responding to the toast, said that though not actually a member of the club he considered that he had long ago fully qualified for this through his tours about the mountains in the various parts of the province. The remark made by Mr. Wood that the province was coming into its own was only partly true; a cabinet minister's work to-day was no sinecure; the country was forging ahead at an incredible pace, and the work of development was not being confined to any one section or to any one part of the country's resources.

W. W. Foster, in the absence of Mr. Morley, proposed the toast "The Alpine Club of Canada," paying a tribute of praise to the energy the director, Mr. Wheeler, to whom as much of the success and esprit de corps of the organization had been due. The club was doing much to capitalize the scenery of the country. This scenery should be made revenue-producing, and it was one of the objects of the Alpine Club to emphasize that fact.

Scenery Should Be Exploited. Switzerland, France, New Zealand, and other countries had derived annually enormous revenues through exploiting their scenery; why could we not do the same?

Director A. O. Wheeler, responding to the toast, gave an interesting resume of the work done during the past year by the club, speaking with the sincerity of a true lover of the hills of the great beauty of the Canadian mountains. In reviewing the position of the club Mr. Wheeler called attention to the steady growth in membership which now stood at nearly 500, one of the ten-honorary members of the organization being Dr. Charles Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, recently elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Edward Whymper. Sympathetic reference was made to the death during the past year of Dr. Arthur Dobson, and Lister Pinn, both of Dublin, who were guests at the 1909 camp at Lake O'Hara. The Banff Club house was referred to as being the strongest visible evidence of the Alpine Club of Canada, and would have to be maintained whether it paid or not. Arrangements were being made for the building of a new dining-room to replace the tent house addition, and two more tent houses would be added to the accommodation there. The late Edward Whymper had left a legacy of fifty pounds, with which it was proposed to erect a memorial in the form of a drinking fountain at the Banff house.

1913 Programme. After reviewing the camp work at Vermilion Pass and Strathcona Park camps last summer, Mr. Wheeler proceeded to outline the 1913 programme. The Banff club house would be opened on June 15, and would be kept open until the middle of September. A new departure would be inaugurated in the holding of two camps at widely distant points, one of which would be at Lake O'Hara Valley, from July 15 to July 26, and the other at Robson Pass from July 26 to August 9. Both sites were magnificent and would afford some splendid climbs.

More Truly National. In conclusion Mr. Wheeler emphasized the statement that he would like to see the mountain parks of Canada made more truly national, and made into real recreation grounds for the men and women of the Dominion rather than as earning media for those corporations that have large financial interests in them.

Other toasts during the evening included that of "Our Guests and the Ladies," proposed by Mr. Mitchell, who spoke appreciatively of the presence of Mrs. Henshaw, better known as a botanist, perhaps, than as an alpinist.

Mrs. Henshaw, who was greeted with hearty applause, responded, expressing her appreciation of the hospitality extended to her as one of the guests.

The final toast of the evening was that to the Press, proposed by W. W. Foster, and responded to by Miss Bruce and Mr. Churchill.

A programme of songs was given at intervals during the evening, among those taking part being Mr. Westmoreland, who sang "Songs of Araby," and an Irish song; Miss Mollison, and Mrs. Cameron, a number of charming Scotch songs; and Mr. Bruce, Mrs. A. Lawder making a sympathetic accompanist. The proceedings concluded shortly after midnight with "Auld Lang Syne," and the National Anthem, followed by three cheers for the chairman.

A Simple Treatment That Will Make Hair Grow Now Sold in Canada

Every up-to-date woman should have radiant hair. There are thousands of women with harsh, faded, characterless hair, who do not try to improve it.

In England and Paris women take pride in having beautiful hair. Every Canadian woman can have lustrous and luxuriant hair by using SALVIA, the Great American Sage Hair Tonic.

Every reader of the Times can have an attractive head of hair in a few weeks by using SALVIA.

All first-class druggists sell a large bottle for 50 cents, and guarantee it to be a perfect standard, stop falling hair and itching scalp in ten days, or money back.

SALVIA is a beautiful, pleasant, non-sticky Hair Tonic.

Only a philosopher can make an enforced visit to a repair shop in good humor.

JULES JURGENSEN

We are displaying in our window two watches made by this celebrated maker whose product is the acknowledged masterpiece of mechanism in the watch world.

Of these watches the number turned out yearly is very limited. For instance, there are only twelve repeaters manufactured in a year. Of the regular timepieces the number is limited to about one hundred annually.

JULES JURGENSEN is so prominent a watchmaker that his timepieces are accepted without question and DO NOT HAVE TO BE TESTED FOR ACCURACY BY OBSERVATORIES.

JURGENSEN occupies the same position among watch manufacturers as the Yager diamond does among diamonds; namely, that of undisputed supremacy.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

Do you read the prelates and foot notes in books, and the printed directions that come with the articles you buy?

If you are a woman, I don't believe you do. Nine women out of ten never glance at such things; men are more apt to. There is a certain brand of canned peas which the whole neighborhood uses. The other evening when we were helping to prepare an impromptu dinner at Molly's house, the Man-Who-Thinks was delegated to open a can of these peas. Before doing so he carefully perused the printed matter on the outside, and this is what he read: "These peas are colored with copper sulphate."

"Goodness," said Molly, "I never saw that before."

None of us had, and yet it had been there all the time, and we have been using that brand for years. Whether a small quantity of copper sulphate is harmful we do not yet know. But whether it is or not, there is no question that we should have read what was written on that can.

We ought to be ashamed of ourselves, and so should all the women who do not take advantage of the protection which pure food legislation offers them.

As you know, the pure food laws provide that when certain coloring matter and preservatives of questionable salubrity are used, this fact shall be stated on the can or box.

Thus the government comes half way in protecting the individual from the dangers of impure food. But unless the individual comes the other half way and takes the trouble to read these warnings, the efforts of the government are useless.

To think that three-quarters of us are too careless, or too lazy or too indifferent to do our part!

Isn't that a painful commentary on the American character?

In some of the little basement stores in the slums of the big cities, where violently colored sodas are dispensed for a penny a glass, the proprietors, observe the law by boldly hanging about their fountains the sign, "This soda is highly adulterated." How do they dare to do it? Because they know that the poor, ignorant folks will think that this sounding phrase means that the soda is extra good.

No doubt the manufacturers who supply us with our canned goods feel a similar confidence in our indifference to any warning they may print.

It is every woman's duty to do what she can to get good legislation, but we must not forget that we have a further duty, and that is to make the legislation we already have as effective as possible. And every woman can do that in this particular by reading the printed matter on the outside of all the goods that come into her kitchen.

Ruth Cameron

THE NEWEST BELTED SUIT.

The effect of this suit is particularly youthful and attractive. The material is a rather heavy closely woven sponge cloth, in a medium shade of mole grey, with buttons, belt and buckle of the same material.

The skirt is attached to an accordion-pleated chiffon waist in the same shade, made over a rose-colored lining. Black velvet was used in the collar and cuffs, and a black velvet toque was worn.

Both the Chinese and Japanese manufacture alcoholic beverages from rice.

CALL FOR EARLY RESIGNATION OF THE REEVE AND COUNCILLOR DUNN

Indignation Meeting of Ward IV. Ratepayers' Association of Saanich Supports Opposition in Disapproval of Engineering Appointment; Allegation of Reason Why Compact Was Broken

At a protest meeting of the Ratepayers' Association of Ward Four, Saanich municipality, held at the Colquhain hall, Carey road, last evening, resolutions calling on Reeve Nicholson and Councillor Dunn to resign their positions and test public feeling on the choice of an engineer, were both carried unanimously. Over forty members voted for the motion, although it was submitted at a late hour when some persons had left the hall. The association then unanimously decided to go in a body to the next meeting of the council and support in person the resolutions.

Some Unwritten History.
The meeting was overwhelmingly in favor of the action of the opposition members on the council and there was a comparative absence of the men from the city whose appearance created so much disorder at the Maywood meeting earlier in the week. While much of the old ground was travelled over again in the discussion, the most interesting statement was that of E. H. Cotterill, an engineer resident in the municipality, who related to the council the views of Mr. Topp on the nature of the appointment as he conceived it. Mr. Cotterill led the meeting to understand that Mr. Topp had no intention of giving more than a supervisory attention to the work of the municipality, that the council would have to provide for a superintending engineer when paving construction commenced, and that the city would be employed and engaged directly by Mr. Topp, who would receive an overriding commission on their salaries. He also told for the first time the second part of the story of the evening when the compact of four councillors was reached in Councillor McGregor's office to vote for Mr. Payne. It was then arranged that Councillor Dunn should vote against Mr. Topp, and now Mr. Cotterill alleged that after Councillor Dunn had left the meeting he was driven home by Reeve Joseph Nicholson. During the drive, so the speaker alleged, it was arranged that "Joe" should go to the House (meaning the Saanich provincial riding), and that Mr. Dunn should be candidate for the reeve'ship with the support of the associations and the out voters from town. He bid the audience draw its own conclusions as to what happened.

Warned the Meeting.
Mr. Cotterill further stated that Councillor Quick had told him before he went south to California in February a number of reasons why he could not vote for Mr. Topp, and therefore he intended to null this statement down when the organization of an association was undertaken in Ward Five, which Mr. Quick represents. Well known residents like T. A. Bryden and J. A. Grant warned the meeting that unless organizations were formed in the wards they were at the mercy of the outvoters from the city, who could be induced to vote in the way any body of men from the city desired who took an interest in Saanich affairs for their own advantage.

Councillor McGregor wanted to know why people from town were swarming like bees round the municipal hall. "I will tell you, gentlemen," he observed. "It is because for the first time we have money to spend apart from current revenue, and they want some of the $100,000 for paving."

Neither Reeve Nicholson nor Councillor Dunn was present, although President Rogers stated they had been invited to attend.

Other Good Ones.
Councillor Williams told the story of the negotiations which led up to the appointment, and of the excellent reputation of Mr. Payne as an engineer, which had led him to agree to his nomination. They, however, were not welded to Mr. Payne, for there were other good engineers among the applicants for the position. He again urged that Mr. Topp was not the right man for the position.

The speaker argued that the appointment of Mr. Topp was unsatisfactory in that he was not going to devote his whole time to the appointment, and that the municipality must have a man who did not make mistakes for engineering mistakes were likely to cost money. As an inspector of surveys he would be glad if the public understood that he (Councillor Williams) had no professional jealousy. He was no longer in general practice, so that Mr. Topp's acts were not in competition with him.

Sewerage Matters.
The speaker touched then on the question of sewerage. The municipality should prepare, he said, for the connections which the city would shortly be in a position to afford. There would always be a danger of an epidemic unless existing sanitary conditions were remedied. The speaker briefly handled the subject of the Garden City water supply, and blamed the council for the character of the original by-law. It was folly to lay a six-inch main down a main road, and not provide laterals, requiring some private person to put in these laterals, and taxing the people for putting them in. Mr. Williams alluded to the fight for 66-foot roads, and said that the engineer should map out the district with a view to all streets joining ultimately without legs as the municipality settled up. Whenever the councillors sought to introduce reforms they were told they usurped the powers of the reeve. The works committee was a farce, as the reeve gave orders for all work done and construction.

Nature of Appointment.
Then came the statement of Mr. Cotterill, in which he declared that Mr.

Topp desired it to be known that in fixing his salary he intended only to employ an instrument man for a portion of the year, and to give his services in a supervisory capacity. Mr. Cotterill said he had told Mr. Topp that he ought to have informed the council of the exact nature of the bargain. "So," observed the speaker turning to the audience, "you are to pay for another engineer to do the work and the reeve is to make Mr. Topp a present of whatever he can make. That is how it appears to me."

The speaker drew a picture of an experienced engineer supervising the paying contractor as a bird in the toils of the fowler, and said it was a bad bargain for the municipality. He then related the conversation which is alleged to supply the motive of Councillor Dunn's action, and which he stated in an advisory capacity to the council, and still working in the interests of a corporation, such as was possible now. What they were going to do he did not quite know, but even if the opposition remained in a minority, and were overruled they would continue to fight.

A Twofold Engagement.
With regard to the engagement of the engineer, the reeve had said that he could be dismissed within 30 days. He doubted that claim very much as the appointment was for the year. It was not right to have an engineer acting in an advisory capacity to the council, and still working in the interests of a corporation, such as was possible now. What they were going to do he did not quite know, but even if the opposition remained in a minority, and were overruled they would continue to fight.

With regard to the water question he was convinced the municipality should exercise an efficient distributing system of its own. There should be a supply for everyone. The municipality also badly needed a by-law defining the duties of officials.

"The appointment of the engineer," continued the speaker, "is not a business proposition, and therefore I am going to continue my opposition. We are willing that a compromise shall be reached, but it will have to be on a reasonable basis."

Councillor Borden related instances in which he declared the reeve had shown a disposition to challenge the right of the councillors to have any say in the management of the affairs of the municipality. The ratepayers wanted an organization of the district on business lines, and emancipation from reeve-man rule. This was not the time for the appointment of a consulting engineer. The municipality required a permanent man capable of preparing a design for water mains and sewers throughout the municipality.

Passed Resolutions.
Resolutions calling for the reeve and Councillor Dunn to resign were then adopted with enthusiasm.

A number of speakers followed, including T. A. Bryden, J. A. Grant, D. W. Jones, R. R. Freeman, R. Layritz. These urged organization for protective purposes, and for the education of the voters as touching the actual facts of Saanich municipality. At a late hour the meeting adjourned with the determination to present the resolutions calling for the two members' resignations to the municipal council at the next meeting.

To check the expenditure of money on road work without consultation with the works committee, a resolution will be moved at the next meeting of the municipal council.

ABORTIVE SESSION OF INVESTIGATION

Charges Against City Clerk Dowler Will Be Gone Into Next Tuesday

A Gilbertian situation existed in the city council last evening when the aldermen assembled to sit in judgment in the case of Mayor Morley versus City Clerk Dowler, when the question arose as to whether the aldermen are to be both judges and witnesses. This knotty problem puzzled the city fathers for a long time; but Alderman Dilworth cut the Gordian knot by moving an adjournment until April Fool's Day (next Tuesday).

The investigation is to determine whether the mayor is justified or not in suspending the city clerk. Apparently the error of Mr. Dowler lies in the fact that to ask the mayor's words "he has been systematically late in getting down to his office, and that there has not been proper value given the city in dollars and cents."

His worship kissed the Bible with a flourish when Alderman Humber wanted everyone connected with the investigation swear. "I am prepared," he said, "to make my charges and to bring witnesses to bear them out. I propose calling those gentlemen who have written to the press to record their complaints and also many others." But the mayor, beyond the outlined charges above, would not make out his case last evening, preferring to subpoena witnesses to give their evidence at the next meeting. The indications are that the municipal court will be in session many evenings before the end is reached.

Although the session lasted for one hour and forty minutes when adjournment came, the council was no farther ahead than it was at the beginning. In fact, in spite of the session last evening the status quo is undisturbed.

Mr. Dowler is also to bring witnesses; but he asked protection for those in his department whom he may call upon as witnesses. He feared that if he spoke the truth they might incur the enmity of the mayor. But the mayor repudiated the suggestion that if their evidence is favorable to Mr. Dowler he will mark them for destruction.

Some of the aldermen wanted Mr. Dowler to make out his case last evening, and then hear the mayor's evidence and witnesses on Tuesday. Alderman Cuthbert pointed out that this would mean that the defendant was required to give his evidence first, while the prosecution came in later. It was an entirely abortive session.

SNOWFALL EIGHTY FEET IS RECORDED

Palouse County Has Prospects for Very Best Crop
Season

Pullman, Wash., March 28.—Weather records of the state experiment station for the Palouse country show a snowfall of 80 inches thus far, which exceeds by nearly two feet the heaviest fall of snow on record since the founding of the experiment station over 20 years ago. Snow still lies on the hills and in the valleys.

It is unusual that the heavy snowfall has not been followed by frosts, practically all the precipitation having found lodgings in the frozen ground, which is now receiving the water as fast as it melts from the snow. In point of moisture stored in the fields, prospects for the coming crops are the best seen in the country since its settlement.

WELCOME SENT TO NEW ZEALAND SHIP

Melbourne, Aust., March 27.—Prime Minister Fisher to-day sent a wireless message to the commander of the battleship New Zealand, which is now 2500 miles from Australia, welcoming him to the Commonwealth.
"Welcome to Australia," reads the message. "We must live together, and I firmly believe that we shall work together for peace and happiness, and to that end, if necessary, fight together."

Krupps Have $50,000,000 That Could Be Taxed for War.

Berlin, March 28.—Rudolf Martin, the publicist, figures the Kaiser's private fortune, on which he would have to pay a war tax on the proposed new military increase measure, at 148,000,000 marks, or $29,800,000.
The emperor's contribution, however, will be less than that of some others. The heiress to the Krupp millions will have to pay $56,000,000, Prince Henckel Donnersmark on $50,000,000, Baron Goldschmidt Rothschild on $32,600,000, and the Duke Ujest on $30,000,000.

Wells received $6,000 for the Smith bout, out of which he was forced to pay training expenses and other bills during his stay. It is said that he has some money invested and is fairly well fixed.

THIRTEEN DELAYED TRAINS EN ROUTE

Immigrants From Teutonic and Virginian Have Cold
Entry to Canada

Winnipeg, March 28.—No less than thirteen long delayed trains pulled from the East in the last twelve hours, laden with passengers from Toronto and Montreal. The trains were stalled between 35 and 40 hours at points along the Superior section where the blizzard had raged at its height, and the snow deep drifts making railroading an impossibility. The first section of No. 3 from Toronto had the worst time of it when the train stuck in some big drifts at Ignace, Ont.

The passengers on the Toronto trains suffered from the lack of food, there being no diner and from cold. The temperature in the cars was down below zero. In addition to the ordinary passengers on these trains there were about one thousand immigrants from the Teutonic and Virginian.

WASHED AND DRESSED HUSBAND Jersey Woman Divorces Her "Personification of Laziness."

Pateron, N. J., March 28.—Testifying before Vice-Chancellor Stevenson in Jersey City, Mrs. Jessie Wood, of this city, said her husband, James G. Wood, from whom she wanted to be divorced, was the personification of laziness. She said that since she married him in 1902 he showed hatred for work of any kind. For nine months she had to wash her husband's face and had to dress him, she said. When Vice-Chancellor Stevenson called for the defence, counsel for Wood said that his client fled when he heard his wife's testimony. Vice-Chancellor Stevenson told Mrs. Wood he would grant her the decree.

MILITARY SHOES.

A plan whereby army shoes made under United States government inspection are afforded enlisted men of the organized militia at half price, or about $1.50 per pair, already has been adopted in Maine, Michigan, Pennsylvania, California and Iowa. Members of the state militia throughout the Union are eligible to procure their foot gear on like advantageous terms. Company commanders make the purchases direct from authorized manufacturers. The state pays $1.50 for each pair of shoes so issued and the other $1.50 is deducted from the men's camp pay. Under this plan the men are allowed to retain the shoes as their personal property, whereas under the system by which shoes were issued to state militiamen through the federal government they were charged against each man and accounted for on state property returns. Shoes at half price are provided only for such enlisted men as perform the tour of duty in camp.

We miss a lot of fun being afraid of appearing ridiculous.

A TOP-NOTCH HIT!

A sailor who had landed after a long voyage, and having been paid off, called a cab, threw his luggage inside and jumped on top himself.
"Beg pardon, sir," said the astonished cabman, "but you should get inside and put your boxes on top."
"Steer the craft ahead, jockey. Passengers always go on deck and luggage in the hold," was the reply from the top.

there. Some have already secured sites and are developing plants. The G.T.P. main line traverses Port Edward and the railroad company has already secured a site for its station, sidings, etc. Development is under way. The time to secure lots is Now.

Port Edward is not a forced enterprise. Prince Rupert, as the G. T. P. itself has admitted, can find no room for the location of further industries along its waterfront. Port Edward offers the only available location for an industrial annex. Port Edward is immediately adjacent to Prince Rupert, with easy inter-communication assured. It has the finest natural harbor on the Pacific Coast adapted to the building of pier wharves and affording seven times the total docking capacity of Prince Rupert harbor per unit of waterfront. It has been laid out by expert engineers as an industrial centre of the most modern type. A company made up of some of the most prominent men in the Dominion is behind Port Edward. Its capital is $1,000,000 fully subscribed. A development fund of $172,500 has been established and more than $32,000 of this was expended in the surveying and preliminary development. The entire business section and all streets and avenues on the balance of the townsite have been cleared and four and one-half miles of plank walks have been laid on the principal thoroughfares. A wharf suitable for the landing of passengers, machinery, supplies, etc., is under construction.

A TRUE STORY OF A WISE INVESTMENT

Prince Rupert points an unusual lesson to investors. Many people thought that to buy Prince Rupert property originally was to throw money away. The first sale was held in 1909. Lots 9 and 10 in Block 8 were sold to the Atlantic Realty Co. for $1220 for the pair. They were held until last year and then they were sold to Mr. F. S. Long for $10,000. And Mr. Long made a good investment.

PARTIES AGREED ON LORDS' REFORM

Scheme Finding Most Favor in Liberal Circles 200 Members Directly Elected.

PASSING OF LORDS CAUSES NO OUTCRY

Liberals Are by No Means in Sympathy With Lansdowne Plan

London, March 28.—The government's announcement of its intention to introduce in the present parliament proposals for a reform of the House of Lords is regarded as meaning nothing less than the abolition of hereditary privileges in legislation. Not the slightest outcry has been raised against the proposed measure.

for the Unionists themselves are committed to a reform of the Lords.

When the measures that are now being studied by the sub-committee of the cabinet take definite shape, however, the Conservatives will doubtless find ample scope for criticism of details. For the present some of the details, like the Pall Mall Gazette, are content to shed a fear over the forthcoming disappearance of the House of Lords, one of the great estates of the nation, as a distinct political factor.

The cabinet committee has Unionist as well as Liberal plans on which to base reform work. Lord Lansdowne in 1911 proposed an upper house of 246 persons, made up thus: Qualified lords of parliament, elected by their peers, 100; elected lords of parliament, 120; nominated by the crown, 100; princes of royal blood, 3; bishops, 7; law lords, 16.

Liberal opinion is that the Lansdowne plan would simply mean a change of name and no change in the political complexion of the upper house. The scheme which finds most favor in Liberal circles is one to make the second chamber consist of 150 to 200 members directly elected for constituents on the parliamentary register. The choice of candidates would be unrestricted as for the House of Commons, but the size of the constituencies and the possible application of the proportional representation principle would tend obviously to limit the candidates to persons of acknowledged position. Persons so elected would be entitled to wear the robes suitable to their offices. In order that labor might have full opportunity of obtaining admission to the new legislature it is at least possible that the payment of the elected lords might be proposed.

Peers of the realm would continue, as at present, to enjoy all their titles and claims to precedence, and, like the Irish and Scotch peers, would rank at court and in society as superior orders to the barons and knights. Special provision would enable them to stand as candidates for the House of Commons and otherwise take part in parliamentary elections.

Important details as to the future of the House of Lords as a supreme legal tribunal are under discussion. Even in Tory circles the view is strongly expressed that the Supreme Court should cease to be political in character. It is most probable that the Lords of Appeal would be constituted as a separate court on the lines of the judicial committee of the Privy Council, with which there might be an amalgamation.

The number of peers who actually attend the upper house is now not more than 100, and for all these, it will be possible to find seats. The peers whom the Liberals want to exclude are merely the group who constitute a sort of militia in reserve for the defeat of Liberal bills.

The Canadian Pacific will expend $15,000,000 for improvements this year on its eastern line, at least $10,000,000 of which will be utilized in completing work commenced last summer.

GREAT BIBLE PLAY BY MAETERLINCK

The Celebrated Dramatist Has Produced Greatest Work of His Career

New York, March 28.—A cable to the Tribune from Nice says: "Mary Magdalene," a three-act drama by Maurice Maeterlinck, presenting with intense realism the Biblical tragedy, and brought out last night in the Municipal Casino, produced a profound impression. The scriptural adaptation is based on the theory that Mary Magdalene's influence on the Saviour was greater than that of any other woman. The first act discloses Mary, a beautiful and wealthy Jewish courtesan, at a sumptuous luncheon in the Garden of Silenus, the philosopher, at Bethlehem. A handsome young Roman lieutenant, Lucius Verus, is desperately in love with Mary, who refuses his offers.

The second act passes in the luxurious villa of Mary, who is already under the mystic religious influence of Christianity. Lucius Verus presses his suit, and Mary is about to yield to his supreme outburst of profane passion. It is a terrific struggle between the flesh and the spirit, but Lazarus, restored to life, appears, saying to Mary, "The Master calls you," whereupon Mary, as if hypnotized, quits Lucius and follows Lazarus.

The third act is at Jerusalem. Pontius Pilate had instructed his lieutenant, Lucius Verus, with the duty of guarding the imprisoned Christ. Lucius, burning with his passion for Mary, declares that he will allow Christ to escape if Mary will yield to his embrace. The disciples who are present implore Mary to comply, but Mary, imbued with mystic faith, refuses, and follows Christ on the path to Golgotha. This is considered the finest and most dramatic work which Maeterlinck has yet written.

The part of Mary is admirably played by Georgette Leblanc Maeterlinck. The Christ is not impersonated on the stage, although His voice is heard in prayer and proclaiming the Christian faith. This scriptural tragedy is a complete dramatic success, and will be given later in Paris.

Don't pare the corn a little and think the corn will go. Don't daub it with liquids, or use an old-time pad or plaster. That's fooling with a corn. A famous chemist found a way to take out corns completely. Now we own his method.

We call it Blue-jay. It's a little plaster, applied in a jiffy. The moment you use it, all pain is stopped.

You forget the corn. In 48 hours take off the plaster and the corns come out. Not a whit of the corn is left.

All this is done without any pain or soreness. Every month a million corns are now removed like this. Try it on one of yours.

A in the picture is the soft B & B wax. It loosens the corn. B stops the pain and keeps the wax from spreading. C wraps around the toe. It is narrowed to be comfortable. D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

AEROPLANES ARE EYES OF MODERN ARMIES

U. S. A. General Believes Province of Air Machines is Newsgathering

The following article on the use of the aeroplane in modern warfare, is contributed to the London Daily Telegraph by Snowden Hedley, one of Britain's most skillful aviators. Mr. Hedley writes from actual knowledge as he took part in the Balkan war with his machine in making reconnaissances for the Bulgarian army.

I do not think that when the war began much assistance was hoped for from the air corps by the Bulgarian general staff. Other armies, I believe they argued, had military airmen, and Bulgaria, as an up-to-date military nation, ought to have them too, but I do not think they had any definite plan for their use.

I did not arrive at the front till after the concentrations on both sides had taken place, and the first battles were fought, but I do not think that aeroplanes had been used at all in the first weeks of the war. There was no attempt, in fact, at strategic reconnaissance. The aeroplanes were used tactically only, and in three main directions—over Adrianople, over Chatalja, and over the peninsula of Gallipoli—the main theatre of their activities since hostilities recommenced. My flight over the battle of Lule Burgas was undertaken not under orders, but as an extension on our own account, after a flight over this besieged town.

So far as the flights over Adrianople are concerned, I find it very difficult to say exactly how far they resulted in any positive information as to the state of the city and the forts. Only one case came under my own notice. While we were flying over the forts one day my observer, Popkristeff, discerned the existence and position of a large magazine within the enemies' lines. I believe that his report when we came down was communicated to the Bulgarian artillery on that side of the investing force, and that the magazine was destroyed. No doubt there were other incidents of the same kind. The secrecy of the Bulgarians made it impossible for us to find out what use was made of our reports, and to what extent they were valuable.

What Experience Showed. One thing was to my mind absolutely established by our experience. The officer-observers carried by the aerial scouts must belong to, or at least be in the confidence of the general staff. They must know, that is, exactly the disposition of the forces on the side to which they belong. At the height at which we were obliged for safety to fly it is impossible to distinguish the nationality of the troops observed. All we were able to say when we descended was, "We have sighted troops" in such and such a place. If they do not belong to us they must be the enemy. Had we known more, we could have told more. We should have known better what to look for. Unless the risk taken of flying quite low—under 3,000 feet—I do not think fortifications could be accurately observed. Their position, of course, can be located, but no accurate particulars could be got of their armament or its capacity.

As regards bomb-dropping, we were under a similar difficulty. We ultimately hit on a plan by which bombs could be dropped practically vertically, but from an aeroplane going at 60 miles an hour it is very difficult to hit a mark. All you can do is to choose some place where there are troops or works sufficiently close placed over a considerable area to make it nearly certain that you can do some damage. A town, of course, offers such a mark, but the lucky shot by which Sabell happened actually to hit the mosque of Selim when he was passing over Adrianople was certainly a chance one. I really think our proclamation-dropping was as effective. It had a great effect on the morale of our somewhat exhausted troops at Chatalja, to find messages dropped on them from their own airmen and to know, as they came to do, that their side had undisputed command of the air. I should place, in fact, the paramount moral effect of the aeroplane on the side which possesses it amongst the most valuable lessons of the whole campaign.

Friend or Enemy? This raises, of course, the question: given two opposing sets of aeroplanes, how are troops to tell which belong to their own side? A bullet struck my plane once at Chatalja, which came from the Bulgarian trenches. Possibly it was aimed at me in the fear that I belonged to the Turkish side; more likely it was simply a stray shot not intended for me at all. Whatever it was, the fact remains that no device was found possible to distinguish the side to which our planes belonged. All the Bulgarian biplanes and monoplanes were painted red, white and green (the country's colors) on the under-side, and in addition the Russian airmen who were flying with us always carried Bulgarian flags. No colors were, however, visible above 1,500 feet, and this attempted protection proved quite useless in practice.

Something must be said about the height at which we flew. It is perfectly true that to make very close observations you must fly at not more than 4,000 feet. The difference of vision between 2,000 feet and 4,000 feet is considerable. If you are flying over mixed or wooded country it is vital to be able to select a safe place of descent. If you are flying over a fortress, equally vital to alight on the right side of the lines. When my propeller broke over Adrianople I should have been a Turkish prisoner had I not been flying at a great height when the accident happened. Nor could I have risked the possible loss of one of a comparatively small number of aeroplanes in flying over the Sea of Marmora unless I had been high enough to glide on to land again if an accident happened.

It may be worth while in conclusion to go into the question of the practical war-aeroplane generally.

The Practical War Machine.

What are the necessary qualifications of war machines? In my opinion they are seven, and can be divided into those concerned with actual flight, and those concerned with the situation of the observer. I shall begin by the former group, and, as a prime demand for the efficient military aeroplane, I should set down the possession of a good gliding angle, at least one in six. This is important in case of engine trouble when flying over a hostile position, so that one may be able, in the first place, to glide back into one's own lines, and secondly to alight with less speed and on a greater variety of ground. Here is a case of which I had personal experience. During the siege of Adrianople, Lieut. Kallhoff when flying a Voisin biplane over the city had a complete stoppage of his engine, and by the possession of a good glide was able to glide back well beyond the Bulgarian lines—in all a distance of over ten miles.

Secondly, I should expect of the efficient military machine speed in climbing, in order that it may rise quickly from its start into a position out of range of gun or rifle fire. Speed in climbing also means economy of petrol, a serious consideration. The very minimum of speed (with full load) should be 30 feet per minute, and its ability to attain and exceed this minimum constitutes in my opinion the only advantage of the monoplane over the biplane. Thirdly, I should lay stress on speed variation. The perfect heavier-than-air machine for war will hover, but till that end is brought about, ability to pass with comparative slowness over a given spot is of great importance, both for observation and for bomb-dropping. Lastly, among necessities of flight I should place the presence of a really simple engine, an engine which will run day in day out without contracting troubles the repair of which demands special knowledge and dexterity.

There is another class of qualifications desiderated; those which insure the convenience and complete utility of pilot and observer. Chief among them is certainly a clear view directly below for the latter. The importance of this will be appreciated by all those who have had experience of observation in campaign. Objects come to one so rapidly in flight that they are often scarcely recognizable till one is almost over them, while they remain beneath one for a considerable time. It is essential that they should not be out of sight in this position. Moreover, here is involved the question of bomb-dropping. The only satisfactory method of dropping a bomb, as I found during the recent fighting in Thrace, is by hand, and this method can only be applied with any hope of success when directly over the mark. Again, it is of supreme importance that the pilot's seat and rudder-bar should be adequately armoured against rifle fire from below.

Problems of Design For War Planes. As to the main designs for military machines in England and France today, the facilities for observation of objects directly below seem to me either none or very defective. In the majority of cases a perverse instinct seems to have led to the pilot being placed in the only possible position for the observer, and the latter has no direct view below him at all. The problem is not solved either by the fitting of a mica floor, as after 15 minutes' flight this would be rendered useless by the oil thrown out by the motor. The qualification appears to me perfectly attained by the Blériot tandem monoplane, and it was on a machine of this type that Signor Sabell had excellent results over Adrianople, his passenger doing splendid work both in observation and bomb dropping. The same praise could be given to the Maurice Farman biplane. Neither of these two admirable machines, however, is designed specifically as a war-plane, and of those that were not one was fitted with the least convenience for bomb-dropping. Anything so practical had been completely lost sight of by our manufacturers while they toil after such toys or premature snatchings from the future as machine guns fitted to the bows of the cabins.

As to protection from rifle fire, no provision seems to be made. Some allowance must, of course, be granted to the designers for want of actual experience of aviation under fire. But how important is this qualification can be gathered from the following incidents. When I was flying over Adrianople at the height of some 3,000 feet I had the fabric of my lower plane pierced by a rifle bullet. You cannot armour a plane, of course, but this bullet might just as well have struck pilot or rudder bar. A Russian aviator flying over the same city had his floor-board pierced in three places, one of the bullets missing him by the fraction of an inch.

Primary Use in War. I spoke just now of machines fitted with a machine-gun. In case any one should think my language severe, I say that I am convinced that, short of a machine being practically in contact with another, the aim could not be got with any accuracy. The question of shock is less important. It would not probably interfere with a first-class pilot, but it should be remembered the casualties of military aviation would often have to be entrusted to hands comparatively inexperienced. So far as attack upon fixed objects or upon dirigibles goes, the bomb is an infinitely superior weapon; but even the bomb is a secondary consideration. The primary use of the aeroplane in war is for purposes of observation, and will remain so for a long time to come.

In summing up I should remark that the urgent need of the present time is a clear conception among designers of the value of safety of pilot and observer, of perfect freedom of view for the latter, and of the absence of fire-some and comparatively heavy essentials. They should learn that for these ends a sacrifice alike of upholstery and of fierceness of aspect would be a very cheap price to pay.

POPE PREPARES HIS TOMB.

Last Resting Place Will Be in Great Crypt of St. Peter's.

Under the pope's directions, preparations have begun for the building of his tomb. It is the desire of his holiness to be buried in the crypts of St. Peter's.

The tomb is simply a recess in the wall of the crypt, and it has been made large enough for the reception of a coffin. Every preparation has been made, and the recess has been covered up with brick so as to be ready eventually for a slab of marble, on which the name of his holiness will be engraved after the burial. The pope has decided that the body of Leo XII, his predecessor, shall remain in St. Peter's, instead of being moved to St. John Lateran's.

The crypts occupy a space under the nave of the modern basilica, and portions of them formed the crypt of the ancient church. Few people have been through the crypts, which are carefully guarded. Though some of the earlier popes were buried in the catacombs, it was not until the time of Leo I. that St. Peter's became recognized as a place of burial for the popes. Originally they were buried in the forecourt only, but later on the tombs were made in the interior. The greater number of popes buried in the crypts are laid in the north aisle, where is the sarcophagus of Boniface VIII, with his recumbent statue. On the head of the statue is the tiara, with the double ring of gold, first used by him. The tombs of Popes Pius II. and Pius III., whose monuments were removed to St. Andrea della Valle, are also there, and next to them is the tomb of the only English pope, Adrian IV. (N. Breakspear), whose tomb is in red granite, with sculptured bulls' heads.—The Toronto Scour.

I see, said the grouchy customer as he was paying his restaurant bill, that you advertise that you make your own pies. Yes, sir, replied the manager of the restaurant, anticipating a flattering testimonial.

Well, I would like to offer you a suggestion. Certainly, sir, pleased to hear it. Well, then, let some one else make them.

A Battle for Great Principles and Ideals

The debate at Ottawa is not a sordid partisan quarrel, but a great battle for great principles and great ideals. Love of Canada; hope for Canada; faith in Canada; are all stirred by this discussion. Let us rise to the height of this great argument.

All Canadians Together.

It is not implied that these ideas are monopolized by Liberals. We are all Canadians. We all love our country; we all have faith in our country; we all have the highest hopes for our country. But the Conservative party to-day is in grave danger of drifting into an anti-Canadian position strangely at variance with the traditions of the party which helped to frame confederation, which pledged the credit of the country to build a railway from ocean to ocean, when Canada had not a quarter of its present available resources; which called its tariff "The National Policy." By what strange accident or blunder do we hear the successors of the authors of the National Policy loudly cheering Winston Churchill's declaration that a great shipping industry cannot be established in Canada? Who says that the skill and daring which built railways through the dangerous and difficult passes of the Rocky Mountains cannot build anything which is to float on the Atlantic or the Pacific? Who, looking back over the splendid pages of Canadian development, shall set bounds to Canadian daring and enterprise?

Little Beginnings of Greatness.

We are all Canadians. We have no desire to monopolize for either party the qualities which have made Canada great. Before Mr. Borden's policy was announced, we pledged him our hearty support if he would develop and enlarge the naval organization which he found ready. Let our opponents laugh at the Nile and the Rainbow as they will. They were the beginnings. We were and are willing that the idea should be developed and the navy enlarged. Mr. Borden and his friends were and are welcome to any prestige that might come from that enlargement.

The Pioneers of Canada.

But Mr. Borden has allowed himself to be discouraged. Read the history of Canada, and say whether there is any ground for discouragement. Your ancestors left their comfortable homes in Great Britain and the United States, struck out boldly into the pathless forests of Canada, endured hardship and loneliness, made homes and farms. They were not such homes and farms as we see in Ontario to-day. But we do not despise, we venerate the log hut and the little clearing which prepared the way for the spacious farm house and the scientific agriculture of our day. Why, then, laugh at the beginnings of a Canadian fleet? Why seek to discourage the grandsons of men who successfully carried out an enterprise even greater than the building of a Canadian fleet?

A Model for the Empire.

Your ancestors were told that they could not govern Canada; they laughed at the men of little faith. They built up a system of responsible government which has been extended to Australia and South Africa, and is the glory and strength of the British Empire. They covered Canada with schools and churches and all the complicated machinery of civilization. They carried scientific farming up to a point not surpassed by any state in the American union. In manufacturing industry the Canadians progressed steadily, from the simplest to the most advanced forms, until now we have nothing beyond their power. Surely it is only in the thoughtlessness of partisan zeal that any Canadians can cheer Winston Churchill's message of discouragement. Mr. Churchill knows the needs of the Empire. But we know Canada's history and Canada's power better than Mr. Churchill. When we speak of Canada we say:

"We know what master laid thy keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast and sail and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Where shaped the anchors of thy hope."

Mr. Churchill is an able man. But he must not tell us that the men who built Canada cannot build a ship.—Tyronto Star.

STRAINED FINANCIAL CONDITIONS LIKELY

Very Little Insurance Recoverable on Tornado and Flood Losses

New York, March 27.—In view of the strained money position throughout the country, the heavy loss from the tornado in Omaha and floods through Ohio and Indiana, is likely to prove a severe strain on the money market. Unlike the big loss in San Francisco, there will be very little insurance collected. It is doubtful if many tornado policies were carried in Omaha, and the same line of reasoning applies as regards flood insurance in the flooded districts of Indiana and Ohio. The loss of property is just as complete as if brought about through a war, fire or earthquake. While reports up to this hour are unofficial, it looks very much as though the situation in the states referred to will be nothing short of a national calamity.

OPERATIC FIASCO.

Strange Scenes in Vienna Theatre—Prima Donna Missed Off the Stage.

Scenes of a scandalous character in the Vienna opera house are described by the London Telegraph correspondent. In the "Huguenots" Frau Kempler Jarno, from Zurich, acted as substitute for Frau Waidt, who had become indisposed in the afternoon, and took the role of Valentine. When she began to sing amusements spread among the audience, as she appeared to be hoarse, and her voice altogether failed her in the high notes.

In the third act, as her voice grew weaker, long-drawn whistling sound from the galleries. The whole house arose, and the audience uttered angry cries, such as "Away with her! We have had enough! Down with Director Gregor!" The curtain fell amid tumultuous shouts. When the manager appeared at the front of the stage he informed the audience that, owing to the indisposition of the singer, the last act would be considerably shortened. The manager's indignation was still more loudly expressed. The curtain rose, but was speedily dropped. The fourth act began without Valentine, but could only be partially heard amid the angry ejaculations of the public.

Behind the scenes lay Frau Kempler Jarno in violent hysterics. Her attempts to commit suicide with a hairpin were prevented by the manager. A doctor who was rapidly summoned stated that as a result of extreme excitement the singer had temporarily lost her senses. She was taken to a sanatorium for nervous patients.

ROSSINI'S MUSICAL WATCH.

Stranger Knew More About It, However, Than Composer.

Rossini, the composer, possessed a magnificent watch that his king had presented to him. It was a repeater and also a musical watch, for it played the maestro's prayer from "Moses in Egypt." But not until after he had owned it for six years did he understand it fully. Rossini took a boyish delight in showing it and making it play, and one day he did so while in a car.

A stranger who sat near was attracted by the music, and just as Rossini was going to get it back in his pocket he stepped up to him and said: "You have a very valuable watch there, sir, but I'll wager that you do not know all its capabilities."

Rossini, much surprised, said: "I have carried it now for six years in honor of my king. It has never varied one minute; it repeats the hour, quarter hour, tells the minutes and the day of the month and plays, as you have just heard, the prayer from 'Moses.'"

"And yet I insist," said the stranger smiling, "that you do not know your watch wholly. I'll wager anything you like—your watch against 10,000 francs!"

"Oh, well, if you have 10,000 francs too many I'll take the bet," cried Rossini. "But now give me the proof of your assertion."

"Very well. The watch plays another piece of yours, master, and contains your portrait besides."

Speechless, Rossini saw that when the stranger touched a spring a lid flew back, disclosing his portrait while at the same time it played "Till Tanti Palpitte, from 'Tancrède.'"

"Good gracious," he exclaimed, looking at his lost watch, "it is true. You have won the wager. But how could I know?"

The stranger laughed heartily and handed him back his treasure, saying: "I am the maker of this watch, Rossini. The watch was made in fun, but I am delighted that you, the great maestro, take such pleasure in my work."

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

sweetens your stomach, cleans your head and thoroughly cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels of sour bile, foul gases and accumulated waste.

All those days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion; the nights when your nerves twitch and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Isn't it foolish to be distressed when there is such a pleasant way to overcome it?

Give your inactive liver and ten yards of waste-clogged bowels a thorough cleansing this time. Put an end to constipation. Take a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs to-night, sure, and just see for yourself by morning, how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged up waste matter is moved on and out of your system—no nausea—no griping—no weakness. You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not dragging yourself. Being composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot injure. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of the so-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label. The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.

Shape that work hunt of yours into a "Want Ad Task," and you'll show your business wisdom!

BIRTHDAY CALENDAR

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

You will be generally fortunate, but some illness or trouble will occur among those dear to you. You will form new friendships and should be careful in this. Those born to-day will have the qualities which make for success and should be encouraged to take part in competitive games when young. They will be true friends, but fickle lovers and an early understanding of these characteristics will save them much trouble.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Seven weeks after the destruction of Schenectady the second of Frontenac's three war-parties arrived at the little settlement of Salmon Falls in New Hampshire. This party was under the command of Francois Hertel, and had been organized at Three Rivers. It consisted of twenty-four Frenchmen and twenty-five Indians, and the little band showed such fortitude under the hardships of the two months' struggle through the icy wilderness that one cannot help regretting that it was destroyed in so ill a cause. On a night in March they came at last within striking distance of their unsuspecting prey, but lurked till morning without the shelter of the forest enclosing the cleared fields and the little knot of farm-houses, amid which, as places of refuge in case of need, were a fortified house and two small stockaded forts. But no watch was kept anywhere, and towards daybreak on March 28th, 1690, the horrified settlers were roused from their slumbers by the war-whoops of their fierce assailants. Completely surprised, men, women and children (to the number of thirty) were shot or cut down with the tomahawk. Houses and barns were burned, and Hertel, though hotly pursued by a party from a neighboring settlement, carried off many prisoners.

Stomachs
By GEORGE MATHIEV ADAMS

The Stomach is the Firebox of the Soul. Its simple construction, patterned by a Supreme Master, is imitated by the human makers of the greatest engines in the world—Engines that have killed Civilization and populated Nations.

Respect your Stomach.
Every human Stomach is from the same mould. But never has there been born a human being that took care of his Stomach quite the same. In real importance, greater than any other organ of the human body, it is least respected—it is most neglected.

Respect your Stomach.
For your Stomach is your Success.
Nothing can replace a ruined Stomach.
Think seriously of this as you burn its walls with the beautifully colored contents of dainty glasses. Think of this when you hurriedly throw into its murderous pocket, ill selected and quickly unassimilated food. Think of this as you neglect its call for regular fuel and regular care. Think of this when it begs for Rest.

Respect your Stomach.
No stomach ever turned traitor to a good caretaker. A companionable Stomach will work wonders for its Master. It will build Power for a hundred years. It will knit Strength and Elasticity into Bones and Muscles.
It will create unfailing Nerve Centres.
It will pump a great Heart. It will give an iron Will and a masterful Brain. Kind Stomachs are more than Coronets, and simple care to them, than Norman Blood.

Respect your Stomach.
Morning, Noon and Night—and between times—
Respect your Stomach.

Stop here at the start of your trip for gasoline, for tire pumping, for inspection of something that acts suspiciously—and your trip will be made with less anxiety.

WILL FORM SOCIETY TO PROTECT RIGHTS

Organization Will Be Established to Oppose Blue Laws

EXTENSIVE SUPPORT IS PROMISED NEW BODY

Promoters Hope to Make It Dominion-Wide in Scope

Feeling that the time has come to resist encroachments on the liberty of the subject, and for the enjoyment of peaceful recreation and amusement, an effort is being made to form an organization to be styled the "Liberty League," for the protection of the citizen against blue laws and prudish legislation.

A meeting is to be held in the course of the next ten days on the subject. Several preliminary gatherings have already been assembled for the purpose of establishing an organization to co-operate with other bodies in the Dominion to maintain inviolate the freedom of the subject against Ministerial Associations, Social Reform Associations, Lord's Day Alliance bodies, and others who seek to regulate the morals of the public.

Would Not Hurt

A member of the organization said this morning: "We have not any desire to hurt the churches but we intend to keep the preachers in their place, and to prevail on church people to boycott the ministers till they cease to take part in politics and to interfere in public rights. The agitation about the Lord's Day Act being enforced in this city has brought matters to a head, and we are determined to fight against this control of our liberties and privileges being permitted. The city of Victoria has been fairly free from these blue laws in the past, but the shadow of restriction is stretching its stifling hand over this city and we must be alive and organize."

Must Join

"I believe we shall be able to show the public that they must join in self-defence to resist the wiles and encroachments of priestcraft and to fight for the liberties won in years of struggle. We can get a thousand members in this city, and will be able to say to civic authorities, as some bodies say now, 'Do this,' and they will do it. We shall be a power for righteousness and freedom which will compel respect from the authorities."

The plan of the organization is to exercise influence to offset religious societies which desire to regulate the habits of the people, and to withdraw financial support from the churches which stand in the way of liberty for the individual and freedom for the state.

"Cripple them financially, and they come to book," the man mentioned above said, "just as every other organization does which attempts unlawful interference with human independence."

Sunday Amusements

Asked if the organization proposed to follow the well planned rules of the Rational Sunday Association, which plans Sunday concerts, excursions, and picnics for the people with the care of the struggle for existence, the speaker said that the organization, which was to be made Dominion-wide, would have a broader outlook. They hoped to have an office in Ottawa to watch the legislation of the Dominion, and "to see the preachers did not put it over them again as they did in the Lord's Day Act."

Constitution

The organization has appointed a committee to prepare a constitution to be submitted to the first meeting, and to settle on the subjects to receive first attention.

A number of influential people are promising their support, and there will be some demand for membership cards, the Times representative is informed.

Sunday Observance

Some diversity of opinion is expressed among the clergy and members of the Social Service Commission with regard to the Sunday Observance Act, many of the minister voicing the view that they are working for in urging some measure of the kind is the securing of a one-day-in-seven rest for the working man. Further than this, some of the members claim, they believe citizens should be given absolute freedom in deciding for themselves what they will or will not do on the Sabbath day so long as they do not in any way interfere with the pleasure of others.

At the recent meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance, the decision to wait on the mayor and police commissioners, asking for the closing of fruit stands and places of business was prompted solely with the idea of taking moderate measures to stop what has not only amounted to an open indifference to the foreigners who usually conduct these businesses, but also to an unfair competition with the legitimate business people of the city who close up their stores on Sunday. The only place that has any reasonable excuse for being open, then contend, is the drug store.

The chairman of the Social Service Commission expresses the view that the matter should be considered as much from the religious standpoint as from the political, and that in this respect the opposed faction is ignoring one of the essential arguments.

As Citizens

"Ministers should not under any circumstances participate in politics as ministers," said Rev. Dr. John Cameron, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, to the Times when informed of the proposed organization. "They must be at perfect liberty to participate as citizens, though. If the ministers are all acting as I am and as I hold they ought to act in devoting all their attention to their religious duties, the organization will have nothing to do."

When asked if he would consider the effort to bring into operation the provisions of the Lord's Day Act as falling under the description "political" activity, Dr. Cameron said, "Is not the enforcement of the law a matter for the government?"

SIDNEY SEEKING ITS INCORPORATION

Delegation Waits Upon Provincial Government Executive This Morning

AREA WITHIN PROPOSED LIMITS IS 1203 ACRES

Ninety-Two Property Owners Support and Sixty-Nine Oppose

At the time of going to press the question of the incorporation of Sidney was still undecided. This morning a deputation consisting of J. J. White, John Henry and Julius Brothour, Captain Byers, Hannah, Billings, Kelly, Wilson, Cochrane, McKilligan, North, St. Barbe, Critchley, Hewitt, and Spencer waited upon the executive in connection with the incorporation of the town. Hon. W. J. Bowser, Hon. H. E. Young, Hon. W. R. Ross and Hon. Thos. Taylor represented the Crown in the hearing.

Messrs. Mackenzie and H. Twiss appeared on behalf of the applicants. Mr. Mackenzie explained the growing importance of the town and dwelt at some length upon the necessity of enabling the citizens of that section to make their own laws respecting the questions of building, cattle restriction, police protection and sanitation. All of the business men of Sidney, except two, he said, were in favor of incorporation. The area included within the proposed city limits is 1203 acres.

Ninety-two of the assessed property owners of the town favored the incorporation and sixty-nine opposed it. The petition was opposed by Mr. Critchley, who stated that the Board of Trade was back of the suggested incorporation and that that body was composed of men who were nearly all members of the same family.

The argument was still continuing at the time of going to press, but it is expected that the executive will reserve its decision for the time being. In addition to those named above the following were included in the deputation: Messrs. Clark, Brennan, Turnbull, Sopkinson, Bowman, Buss, Roberts, Sears and Beckett.

Explosive Factory

The petition of the Canadian Explosives, Limited, for a license to establish powder works on James Island was also heard. In answer to the chairman, Mr. Bowser, who asked if there were any objections, Mr. Taylor, K.C., said he appeared for the Experimental Farm and desired that precautions should be taken to prevent the emission of sulphurous fumes.

Mr. Armstrong, of Sidney, objected on the score of ill-smelling fumes and the score of danger. Captain Neureuts objected on behalf of the Canadian Pacific railway on account of danger to its vessels in passing the island.

Mr. Sturgees, representing 300 acres of land lying on the Saanich shore, also opposed the application on the ground of noxious fumes.

Mr. Moore, on behalf of the powder company, assured the committee that there would be absolutely no objectionable fumes.

Mr. Spencer, of the Experimental Farm, also opposed, pointing out that a single lapse of human vigilance might destroy the usefulness of all the most recent devices for obviating nuisances. He represented, he said, several ladies who lived in what he described as the danger zone, and who were very apprehensive of possible damage.

Mr. Critchley said she came from the greatest chemical manufacturing district in the world, and well knew the damage arising to vegetation from chemical fumes.

Difference in Explosions

In reply Mr. Moore pointed out that the chemicals they proposed to manufacture were of a very different character to those made in the districts alluded to. He emphasized the differences between explosions in open places and in barricaded ones.

Capt. Robertson, of the marine department, did not oppose, but desired that the regulations of the British Explosives Act should be adhered to. He desired to hear all opinions on the matter in order to report to his department.

The executive deferred decision.

GAVE A SHOWER.

A kitchen shower took place yesterday at the residence of Mrs. E. H. Hiscok, 645 Trutch street, the guests being the members of the Cathedral Women's Auxiliary, the choir, and the church officials. The purpose of the gathering was in order that church members might become better acquainted with the Rev. W. H. and Mrs. Dave, and to present them with a number of useful articles for their new home, 147 Cambridge street. So numerous were the contributions that two large tables were covered with glass, china, tinware, metal, wood and linen. The Rev. W. H. Dave is a humorous speaker, thanked all present on behalf of himself and Mrs. Dave, after which refreshments were served, and a number of vocal solos brought the enjoyable function to a close.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Building permits have been issued to William Drysdale for a dwelling on Rossington street to cost $2,000; E. D. Rossington for a dwelling on Rossington street to cost $1,500; Mrs. Davies for an addition to 117 St. Lawrence street; and Mrs. E. W. Gilbert for an addition at 325 Douglas street.

LOCAL NEWS

Took Suits From Hotel Room.—Snack thieves removed several articles of clothing including two suits from rooms in the Wilson hotel. The police are investigating the matter.

Plumbers and City.—There was another meeting this afternoon with regard to the plumbers and the guarantee they put up with the city. The local Plumbers' Union were invited to attend the committee in order to put their case forward.

NEW W. C. T. U. BRANCH

Meeting of Fowl Bay Road Residents Resulted in New Body.

A new branch of the W. C. T. U. was organized yesterday at a meeting held at the residence of Miss Bell, Fowl Bay road, an excellent attendance of strangers from the neighborhood being present. Mrs. Willis, president of the Victoria branch of the organization, presided, pointing out the value of the smaller organizations, and urging the formation of a branch in that district. The following were appointed officers for the newly formed society: Mrs. Nicholas, president; Mrs. Bromley-Jubb, vice-president; Mrs. Christie, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bright, recording secretary; and Mrs. A. S. Preston, treasurer. Mrs. Spofford, provincial president, spoke to the meeting for a few minutes on the work of the union, and outlined the main features of the forthcoming season, including the convention which is to meet in June at Westminster.

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED.

A special meeting of the Navy League Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire was held this morning at the Alexandra Club, for the purpose of receiving the formal resignation of the regent, Mrs. Mesher, and Mrs. Cookson, both of whom are going away for extended visits. Mrs. Mesher presided in the chair, and Mrs. Home, vice-regent of the Municipal Chapter, was among those present. The following new officers were appointed: Regent, Mrs. W. J. Roper; first vice-regent, Mrs. Bridgewater; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Cuppage; standard-bearer, Miss Elworth; councillor, Mrs. Neufeldt; Mrs. Rickaby, past secretary, in her resignation prior to leaving the city some weeks ago for a prolonged absence. The several resignations were accepted with expressions of regret from the meeting.

MANY AMERICANS DUPED IN FLORENCE

Teachers Making Thousands a Year by Falsely Encouraging Art and Music Students

Florence and other Italian cities are full of young Americans studying music and painting who ought to be at home, according to an American painter who makes his home on the bank of the Arno for a part of each year. He says that there are many more teachers who are making great incomes out of teaching young Americans, said he. "The most successful seems to be a man from Boston, who is said to be earning from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. But there are dozens of other men who are simply duping the young American students who go to them in a way that makes the blood boil."

Husbands Are Forsaken.—"Last year we had at one of our homes an American woman of 35 and her mother. My wife is interested in music, and she was asked to an at-home which the woman was having the following week. She went, and learned that the woman had separated from her husband because he did not sympathize with her musical aspirations, had gathered together what money she could, made her aged father sell out his property, and had dragged him, her mother and her own two small children off to Florence to live, while she prepared for grand opera. My wife, who has studied music, and knows a great deal about the matter, said she threw into consternation. 'Not only had she no voice, but she had no ear, and it never would have been possible for her to become a singer. Yet she told us that her maestro had been telling her continually that her talent for which he was arranging, was only a question of a few weeks. She dropped out of sight after a short time, and we have never been able to learn what became of her. I have known half a dozen cases just as bad. Young women were kept on and on there until they had absolutely no chance of becoming singers. The same thing is true of Milan to a greater extent, and in Rome it is just as bad."

Grave Artistic Atmosphere.—In Florence, Buonamic, one of the oldest piano teachers, a pupil of Liszt, and one of the two greatest teachers of the piano in Italy, was too busy when a young American woman came to him a year or two ago to take her as a pupil. He suggested another teacher. Buonamic learned that the young woman had come all the way from Chicago, and that she knew merely the rudiments of music.

"But why did you not study in Chicago," he asked her, "where you have one of the greatest pianists in the world?" She replied that she had wanted to come where the air was inspiring. Buonamic told her there was no reason why she should not have taken her lessons over here.

It is the same way with art students. If I had a youngster, who wanted to study art, I would not send him abroad for at least the first four years. There are some schools here where you get much better instruction as beginners than anywhere abroad. Of course, the time comes when a painter wants to go over to see old things. But among modern painters, it is not a question of distance.

And now, as to the question of distance. A young man came to me just as they that a great painter will come up in Denver or New York or Chicago, as in London or Paris or Berlin or Rome."—Daily Ontario.

O'CONNOR DEFENDANT IN A FURTHER WRIT

Robert Hetherington Asks Return of Property Given for Bankers Trust Stock

HEARING OF CONSPIRACY CHARGE IS ADJOURNED

Trouble in Police Court Over Non-Appearence of Accused on Counsel's Advice

A new writ was issued to-day in connection with the Bankers' Trust Corporation case. Robert Hetherington, of 1153 Burdette avenue, who is the informant in the charge of conspiracy against Franklin C. Cook, J. O. Hearn, R. N. O'Connor and several others, is plaintiff in this writ and it. N. O'Connor is defendant.

The writ asks for the cancellation and delivery up of a conveyance dated February 13 by the plaintiff to the defendant of a certain house and lot in block H of the Fairfield estate, on account of alleged fraud and misrepresentation by the defendant and his agents. G. A. Morphy is solicitor for Hetherington.

A misunderstanding occurred in the police court this morning when the names of Cook, Hearn and O'Connor were called in connection with the conspiracy charge.

"Are the accused here?" asked City Prosecutor Harrison.

"I appear for them, your honor," said Frank Higgins, counsel for the defence.

Went to Vancouver.

"Are they in town?" asked the prosecutor.

"Yes. They would be here only I understood from the counsel for the prosecution that it would not be necessary for me to go to ask for an adjournment," explained Mr. Higgins.

"I never intended that it would not be necessary for them to be here," declared the prosecutor. "I want them of course."

"Very well," answered defence counsel. "I'll telephone for them if you will stand the case to the foot of the list."

When the other cases were disposed of Mr. Higgins explained that he was in an awkward predicament as he had understood that it would be unnecessary for the accused to be in court, and he had let Mr. Hearn go to Vancouver to testify in an important lawsuit. He had come over last night for the purpose of appearing, but Mr. Higgins had said it was not necessary.

"It is only in summary cases where the accused is excused from appearing when there is to be an adjournment," said the magistrate. "In an indictable offence a prisoner must always answer to his bail."

Agreement Made.—"I think trouble may be saved," proposed Mr. Harrison. "If counsel will have his clients here to-morrow morning for formal adjournment and will give his undertaking that no objection will be taken to this proceeding when the trial comes on."

This undertaking was given, and it was mentioned that the adjournment would be for some days. H. A. Macdonald, K.C., who is acting as solicitor for the liquidator and several of the shareholders was in court on a watching brief.

The detectives are still scouring the country in search of Moore, Gernert, Skidmore and Westfield, the other men wanted on the conspiracy charge. That they have not yet been found is one reason for the adjournment of the trial of the other three. Detectives Edens and Heather have just returned from Vancouver, where they were prosecuting the quest for the missing men.

Miss Victorine confides to the janitor's wife that her mistress, who is old and feeble, has promised to remember her in her will if she takes good care of her till she dies. The janitor's wife shrugs her shoulders.

"The worst of that is, my dear, that the better you take care of her the longer you'll have to wait for your legacy."

It was the same way with art students. If I had a youngster, who wanted to study art, I would not send him abroad for at least the first four years. There are some schools here where you get much better instruction as beginners than anywhere abroad. Of course, the time comes when a painter wants to go over to see old things. ## EXPECT LARGE ENTRY FOR THE HORSE SHOW

Organizers Look for Splendid Quality; Competition Among Retail Merchants

Horse fanciers of Victoria are looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to the annual spring show which has been fixed for the first week in May. It is being conducted by a number of the most prominent Island enthusiasts, assisted by the organization of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, and there is no doubt from present indications that it will be successful from the standpoint of the quality of the equine aristocracy exhibited as well as being the most popular social feature of the year.

In Vancouver the association is making even greater preparation for the spring affair than in the past, and the prospects are that outside horsemen will be more strongly represented than heretofore. The local fancy is taking a deeper interest in the arrangements than at any time since the launching of the organization. All this is taken as the very best of news by those who have the Victoria show's welfare at heart. The better the mainland show is the higher class will be that of the Capital City. It is almost an invariable rule that entries made at Vancouver are duplicated in Victoria because the two events follow one another so closely.

As has been the custom, local officials are arranging for a competition among the retail merchants, which will be of interest to those entering as well as an exceedingly good way of bringing the attention of the public to the forthcoming show. The best decorated window—it being one of the stipulations that only colors of the Horse Show Association shall be used—will receive handsome recognition. There also will be prizes for second and third places.

Prize lists providing for the distribution of thousands of dollars have been issued and are available at the offices of Secretary Geo. Sangster, Chancery Chambers, on application.

FORMER OFFICIAL ENTERS BUSINESS

Mr. Gray Donald's Company is Gazetted; Changes With New Fiscal Year

The Gray Donald General Engineering Company, Limited, is incorporated, notice being given in the current issue of the British Columbia Gazette. The company which has been organized by Mr. Gray Donald, formerly provincial chief hydrographer, will have its offices in Victoria, and a capital of $10,000.

The objects are to carry on the business of hydrographic and civil engineering in all branches, and in particular to do all kinds of engineering work required to be done under the provisions of the Water Act.

The following clerical changes have taken place in the provincial parliament buildings, effective on Tuesday:

Miss Lillian G. Watson, to be a stenographer in the education office, and Miss Daisy A. Bryant in the free-text-book branch; Rupert Howard, to be a clerk in the provincial board of health office; Hiram E. Gillingham, to be a junior clerk in the same department; Wilfrid Harry L. Norris, and William Smith, to be junior clerks in the office of the provincial secretary, and Reginald West Park, to be an attendant in the museum.

J. F. Armstrong is gazetted as chairman of the board of investigation under the Water Act.

Incorporations.

The Gazette announces the following incorporations of companies: The Anacapa Island Land Co., Black Brothers Brown & Dawson Drug Co., Coast Contract Co., H. D. Miller & Co. Herbert P. Vidal & Co., J. B. Monette Co., Kamloops Ice & Cold Storage Co., Lake Lumber Co., Lantz & Ladner, Lexington Logging Co., Parks Breweries, Prince Rupert Lawn Tennis, Red Deer Investment Co., Redlands Trading Association, Silica Soap Manufacturing Co., Unionist Investment Co., Vernon Brothers, and W. T. McArthur & Co. As extra-provincial companies, Fraxwell-Camm-Kirk & Co., the Nebraska Investment Co., and the Pacific Lumber Agency have been duly registered to transact business in British Columbia.

The municipality of Fraser Mills, near New Westminster, is gazetted as an incorporated municipality, with a reeve and four councillors.

JOCKEY SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES FROM FALL

George Brent, Employed at W. J. Taylor's Ranch, is Dragged by Stirrup

On Wednesday afternoon George Brent, a jockey and stableman employed at the ranch of W. J. Taylor, North Saanich, sustained severe injuries as the result of a fall from a horse, to which he succumbed yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, where he was removed immediately after the accident was discovered.

As the accident was seen by no one the exact cause is mere conjecture. It is supposed, however, that Brent, who arrived from Vancouver on Tuesday last to commence work at the ranch, and who had taken out one of the race-horses for exercise, was riding carelessly when the animal shied and threw him, his foot catching in the high stirrup, dragging him for some distance. When discovered Brent was hanging at the horse's side unconscious, the animal having returned to the stable. He was at once removed to the hospital, where an operation was performed to relieve the concussion and fracture, but the jockey was beyond relief and succumbed yesterday morning without gaining consciousness.

The deceased, who was about 30 years of age, was recommended to Mr. Taylor by the British Columbia Thoroughbred Association at Vancouver, but otherwise little is known of the man. Particulars as to his relatives have been wired for, but up to the present none have been obtained.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The opposite of every truth is also true. Truth is two-edged and cuts both ways.

For instance, it is said that Now is the all important moment. The present alone is ours.

But as a matter of fact a man's happiness is largely determined not at all by his present moment but by his past and future.

Yesterday and to-morrow have more to do with us than to-day.

It is what one has been and will be that wrap all about the soul.

Really, what one is he hardly ever thinks of. To most of us the present does not matter much. It is so negligible that we are all day running away from it, scouring the fields of the past, and aeroplaning over the future.

The angel of mercy can come to us with two no greater gifts than Forgiveness and Hope.

The one dissolves the past. The other sweetens the future.

Y. W. C. A. REHEARSES.

Last evening one of the final rehearsals for their gymnasium display which is to take place next Thursday evening, was held by the Y. W. C. A. girls at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, about twenty-two being present, and the exercises including marching, ladder-work, vaulting and folk-dances. The efficiency of the class after its season's drill reflects the greatest credit on Miss Ruth Jarvis, their instructor, under whom the work has advanced rapidly. Thursday's gymnastic display commences at 8 p. m.

STOMACH SOUR? GOT INDIGESTION ALSO

"Pape's Diapiesin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump, of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache—this is indigestion.

A full dose of Pape's Diapiesin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapiesin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapiesin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

Telephone Courtesy

Telephone courtesy means answering the telephone as quickly as possible when the bell rings—not keeping the "caller" waiting until one gets good and ready to answer. Telephone courtesy on party lines means being polite when someone else unintentionally breaks in—not snapping "Get off the line; I'm using it."

Undoubtedly there would be a far higher degree of telephone courtesy, particularly in the way of reasonable consideration for the operators, if the "face-to-face" idea were more generally held in mind. The fact that a line of wire and two shining instruments separate you from the person with whom you are talking, takes none of the sting out of unkind words.

In a word, it is obviously true that that which is the correct thing to do in a face-to-face conversation is also correct in a telephone conversation, and anyone has but to apply the rules of courtesy prescribed long years before the telephone was first thought of, to know the proper manners for telephone usage.

Be forbearing, considerate and courteous. Do over the telephone as you would face-to-face.
